TEDDY IS BROUGHT INTO THE AFFAIR

Witness at Sugar Probe Tells How He Lost "Preference for Large Game."

BANK WAS WRECKED BY TRUST

Failure to Prosecute Heads of American Sugar Refining Co., Discouraged Roosevelt—Geo. H. Earle Witness.

Washington, June 28.—That former President Theodore Roosevelt had lost "his preference for large game" because of the failure of the government to prosecute former heads of the American Sugar Refining Company for the wrecking of the Real Estate Trust Company, of Philadelphia, in the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company deal in 1906, was asserted today before the House Sugar Refining Investigating Committee by George H. Earle, Jr., receiver for the trust company. The Pennsylvania refinery was acquired by the American Company and promptly closed.

Mr. Earle, who declared he made repeated efforts to induce the Federal authorities to take up the case, also declared that considerable of his correspondence with Mr. Roosevelt in relation to the case was not communicated to the Senate, when a resolution was passed calling for all papers. Mr. Earle submitted to the committee two letters he said he wrote to Mr. Roosevelt subsequent to the one, bearing date of September 21st, 1906, submitted to the Senate.

"That letter was not all I wrote to Mr. Roosevelt," said Mr. Earle, in response to a query by Chairman Hardwick. "I wrote several that never saw the light of day, and I have been able to find two of them."

"Read them," said Mr. Hardwick.

"On October 1, 1906," Mr. Earle replied, "nothing having been done by the government in this case, I wrote another to Mr. Roosevelt."

Here the witness began reading a copy of that letter, in which he said, being an alumnus of Harvard as was Mr. Roosevelt, that "I began to labor under the horrible suspicion that this might prove the first occasion upon which '—79' asked assistance of '—80' and did not get it."

The remainder of the letter follows:

"Seriously, I mean still seriously, the matter of the wrecking of the Real Estate Trust Company by the sugar trust, if justice should be done, needs the promptest attention from the Attorney General. I have seen a number of the conspirators who wrecked this institution for the benefit and at the instigation of the sugar trust and I am in myself a magazine of evidence against them; but while we have been waiting and doing nothing, others have been intensely active and these very persons who were hot to help me are now withholding all documents and evidence at their command. If we could have jointly acted a little earlier we might have gotten some original papers which we greatly need and may find it very difficult to do so now; but I have copies and can prove the, although not all the facts that establish the infamy of this conspiracy. * * * * "It has often happened that you have been able to punish the oppressers of the public, but there has really been no occasion where there has been substantial evidence against so many of the first rank; and I totally misjudge your character if you have lost your preference for large game.'"

"Mr. Roosevelt had lost his preference for large game and I was mistaken," declared Mr. Earle when he concluded. He then read another letter which he wrote to Mr. Roosevelt under date of October 24, 1906. In this letter after apologizing for his importunity he said:

"I thought that the case that had come to my attention in the performance of an unsought trust botn might enable the government to enforce a most important statute hitherto unused and at the same time to demonstrate that the oft-time assertion of the trust that they were but technically not morally guilty of crime was untrue. When men for pecuniary ends violate one class of laws they do not stop at infringing others; but when they so charge that the government is prosecuting them for making more necessary business arrangements it is difficult to prove the untruth of their assertion. And so, when I found a case of first impression where there was proof of what I consider pure villainy I thought it my duty to lay it directly before you. And I have, or had no other end to serve.

"I have followed your suggestion and visited the Attorney General, who in turn referred me to Mr. Purdy, at which I greatly rejoiced. For unless I have misread his character, he is intelligent, fearless and devoted to the performance of his duty. I think he now understands the importance of this case; and so I am content and wish to thank you for whatever trouble you may have been put to by my appeal to you."

Mr. Earle declared he had not talked with Attorney General Moody because the latter had been appointed to the Supreme Court bench and could not undertake the case. He had seen

SEWAGE AND W... PROBLEMS

Dr. Lederer Declares Only Few Rivers in United States Safe Raw for Drinking Purposes. Los Angeles Address.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 28.—Comparatively few of the larger cities in this country have completely solved their sewage and water problems according to Dr. Arthur Lederer, chemist and bacteriologist of the Sewage Testing Station, of the Sanitary District of Chicago, who spoke before the Section on Preventive Medicine of the American Medical Association today.

Dr. Lederer also declared that it is probably true that very few rivers in the United States are safe raw for drinking purposes; that small communities as a rule pay attention to their sewage problem only when they begin to smell it. "The odor of fresh sewage is not repugnant, as is commonly supposed." The speaker said:

"In small bulk it appears a slight yellowish, fairly turbid liquid, containing a varying amount of finely divided suspended matter, as well as coarse. The layman invariably pictures sewage as the dark, putrid liquid found in stagnant sewers or septic tanks.

"As a rule, the sewage problem cannot be spoken of without touching upon the water problem. The sewage problem of one today may become the water problem of another tomorrow. Pollution of surface waters is, in many cases, an interstate affair, and usually to prevent or eliminate such pollution the good grace and will of many small communities have to be depended upon. Concerted action by such communities is hard to obtain, and in some cases, almost a hopeless task. There are several reasons for this: Various communities seldom agree as to the amount of pollution they are responsible for. Some communities depend upon the water supply they are polluting, others do not. Naturally, the ones which do not are in no hurry to remedy the condition. Lack of funds. Lack of appreciation of the common good.

"It is true that the temptation to discharge raw sewage into the large watercourses is great. We can only remedy this evil with difficulty. A reasonable line must be drawn somewhere. The trade wastes of our large industries have to be discharged. Many of the trade wastes can be purified but partially. We have therefore to confine ourselves to trying to keep the large common drinking reservoirs, such as are represented by the Great Lakes, in a good, wholesome condition. The introduction of the purification of sewage is an educational task, much more so than the purification of a water supply. You can demonstrate to the people in a community that the death rate from intestinal disease is rising and that the water supply is responsible for it. The people will fight for a pure water supply and get it frequently in spite of franchised water companies and empty treasuries. Unfortunately, the discharge of raw sewage by one community in most cases affects another.

"Small communities, as a rule, pay attention to their sewage problem only when they begin to smell it. Their usual procedure in such a case is to have the engineer, who, in most cases, is a civil engineer by training, draw up a design for a septic tank or the like. Right here is where we need most enlightenment. Many of us have seen the sewage disposal plants which do not operate properly, and many have seen the plans which are failures either on account of faulty design or on account of entire lack of intelligent supervision. The State Legislatures and the State Boards of Health, in the Middle West in particular, are just beginning to awaken to the fact that proper sanitary engineering advice by men of special training is as valuable to these small communities as anything they may do to further the health of the people. An inefficient sewage disposal plant, or a neglected plant, represent a waste of capital and energy.

"Raw sewage may actually purify itself during storage prolonged for weeks, to a state where it is impossible to differentiate it from fresh clear water by physical inspection, except it be for a mineral sediment and a growth of algae at the bottom.

"The aim in modern sewage disposal is to get rid of the small amount of suspended matter present as quickly as possible, and then to oxidize the fresh liquid on biologic filters should additional treatment be required.

"In the last few years, the disinfection of contaminated waters has made great strides and has actually lowered the death rate from intestinal diseases wherever it has been intelligently applied."

PARTY MUST LOSE MURPHY.

Only Chance to Save New York State Says Osborne.

Albany, N. Y., June 28.—The absolute elmination of Charles Francis Murphy as leader is the only thing that can save the Democratic party in this State, according to Thomas Mott Osborn, recently resigned State forest, fish and game commissioner. Mr. Osborne, in a letter from Berlin to James K. Sague, vice chairman of the Democratic League and Mayor of Poughkeepsie, which was made public today, says he "absolutely declines to follow Mr. Murphy's leadership to further disgrace an inevitable defeat."

He objects to Mr. Murphy's domination, Mr. Osborne says, "because his leadership has stood and stands for ignorance and commercialism and its treatment of legislation has been imbecilic." When political parties are governed by the financial interests of its leaders instead of by genuine politics, continue Mr. Osborne, "then rottenness and dire corruption are bound to flourish until corrected."

HOUSE COMMITTEE URGES DISMISSAL

Would Oust Two from Service on Account of Alleged Misappropriation.

STATE DEPARTMENT SHAKE-UP

Result of Inquiry Into Purchase of Portrait of Associate Justice Day—Recalls the Voucher Mystery—Details.

Washington, June 28.—Expressing the belief that there was a misappropriation of State Department funds and recommending, as a result therefor, the dismissal from the service of William H. Michael, American consul general at Calcutta, and former chief clerk of the State Department, and of Thomas Morrison, disbursing clerk of the Department, the sub-committee of the House Committee on Expenditures in the State Department today met and adopted the report which tomorrow it will present to the full committee.

The alleged misappropriation occurred in connection with the purchase of a portrait of Associate Justice Day, former Secretary of State, and amounted to $1,600. Only $850 was paid to Albert Rosenthal, the artist who painted the picture, whereas, the committee during its investigations traced to a single voucher the sum of $2,450, on which voucher were written the words "For portrait and frame of ex-Secretary Day."

Neither the President nor the Secretary of State, according to the report has the right to pay for portraits of former Secretaries of State from the emergency fund from which came the money to pay for the portrait in question. The testimony having showed that the $1,600 unaccounted for was in the hands of Morrison as disbursing clerk and of Michael, as chief clerk, the committee holds that the money was misappropriated either by Michael and Morrison jointly, or by Michael alone.

The mysterious finding of the voucher for $2,450 which was reported lost when the committee began its investigations, but which later was discovered by a messenger on the floor in the disbursing clerk's office is criticised by the committee in its report as beyond human belief. Both Morrison and Michael should be removed from office, in the opinion of the committee, for the good of the public service.

The sub-committee consists of Representative Hamlin, of Missouri, chairman; Dent, of Alabama, and Davis, of Minnesota, a Republican. As all three are in favor of the report and as only one other vote is needed to have it adopted by the full committee, it is felt that no doubt exists as to the outcome. In case the President and Secretary of State take no action in the case, it was pointed out today by a member of the committee, a resolution probably will be introduced calling on them to dismiss the two men.

FEATURES OF GAMBIER SUIT.

Important Witnesses Appeared at the Trial Yesterday.

New York, June 28.—Charles B. Symes, who said he had followed Mrs. Edith Russell Gambier, the former Atlanta society girl, when she went automobile riding with Harvey C. Sickler, a wealthy member of the Atlantic Fertilizer & Oil Co., testified today at the trial of Mrs. Gambier's suit to annul her marriage to a local banker.

The witness said he had shadowed Mrs. Gambier in search of evidence for about a month. Sheets of memoranda taken by the witness in this pursuit bore cabalistic letters which Symes had some difficulty in explaining. He could not remember the meaning of "N. G."; but he said that the letters "N. D." on another sheet probably meant "nothing doing."

Elias Owens, formerly a clerk in a hotel where Mrs. Gambier had been a guest, testified to receiving a telegram for her from Philadelphia in October 1910, reading: "Have dinner with me about 7 P. M. (Signed) H. C. S."

Owens added that he had seen Mrs. Gambier in company with a male friend at the hotel on several occasions.

Victor Hugo, a detective who had shadowed Mrs. Gambier, said he had seen her visit several restaurants and amusement resorts with a gentleman.

Martin Littleton, counsel for Gambier, rested his case with the deposition of David Morrison, of Springfield, Mass., who was in the European party which Gambier and his wife met on their honeymoon trip. Morrison testified that Gambier's attentions toward his young wife seemed to irritate her, and that she was indifferent and cool toward him.

Counsel for Mrs. Gambier announced that he would conclude his case tomorrow.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 28.—Lincoln Beach, the Aviator, today did not attempt to repeat his sensational flight of yesterday over the cataracts under the upper steel arch bridge, but made a series of spirals over the Falls and sailed down the river almost to Lewiston, at a height of 2,000 feet, and in the face of a ten-mile breeze.

TELLS OF CURTAILMENT PLANS

Methods of Arkwright Club to Maintain Prices Related to Committee Inquiring Into Recent "Corner" in Cotton.

Washington, June 28.—Agreement among mill owners to curtail production of cotton goods, and reduction in wages and in the number of working hours of employes, were means employed through the Arkwright Club, of Boston, to maintain the prices of cotton products, according to Edward Stanwood, secretary of the club, who appeared today before the House Committe on Expenditures in the Department of Justice.

The committee is inquiring into the recent "corner" in cotton.

Mr. Stanwood testified that the club was a social business organization in which cotton mills were represented by their treasurers, the club funds being contributed by the corporations represented.

The contributors included mills in Lowell, Fall River, New Bedford, Biddeford and other New England towns.

Two efforts of the club to secure concerted action among the New England cotton mill owners for curtailing the output of the mills were described by Stanwood.

"On December 18, 1907," he said "the club instituted a policy of curtailment and a letter was read from Richard Olney giving as his opinion that an agreement among cotton millers to curtail production would not be in violation of any law. A letter was read also from William Wood, president of the American Woolen Company, in which he said his concern was ready to curtail its output and expressing the hope that the cotton spinners would agree to curtail. At that meeting a committee was appointed to draw up a circular for the signature of the cotton spinners agreeing to curtail their output.

"Did all the firms represented agree to curtail?" asked Chairman Beall.

"Probably not more than half did. In February, 1908, we considered curtailment of production and an early reduction in wages throughout the New England mills."

A committee appointed to consider these questions never reported. In October, 1909, an agreement was made by the members of the club to cut the working hours of each week from October, 1909 to August, 1910, to 56 hours. The agreement was generally observed.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE MEETS.

Will Inaugurate Governor-Elect Hoke Smith Saturday.

Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—The Georgia Legislature convened today for its biennial session, perfected its organization and prepared for the inauguration of Governor-elect Hoke Smith next Saturday.

Both Houses devoted most of the time they were in session to listening to the final message of Governor Joseph M. Brown, the retiring executive.

The several candidates for the Senatorial toga of the late Senator Clay were busy today preparing for the contest anticipated when the Legislature begins balloting for Senator on July 11th. Railroad Commissioner Murphy Candler today announced that he would be a candidate only in event Hoke Smith declines to allow his name to be used.

Some of Mr. Smith's friends are venturing the prediction that he will be nominated on the first ballot.

"The situation looks rosey enough to me," was the confident comment of Senator Terrell. Both Pleasant A. Stovall and Judge W. Covington appeared equally optimistic.

HOT IN NEW YORK.

Worst Gotham Has Experienced This Season—One Death.

New York, June 28.—A hot, humid and almost breezeless day—one of the worst the city has experienced this year—is charged with one death and prostrations which are officially reported as numbering fifteen. The official thermometer registered 89 this afternoon, with street thermometers several degrees higher and only slight relief came with the night. The percentage of humidity during the day ranged from 40 to the high mark of 65.

WAGING A BITTER FIGHT IN SENATE

Opponents of Reciprocity Arraigned Measure in Congress Yesterday.

CUMMINS TALKS ABOUT TAFT

Doesn't Like Idea of President Vetoing Measure If Amended—Called Republican Betrayal of Farming Interests.

Washington, June 28.—This was a day of bitter arraignment of the Canadian reciprocity bill in the Senate. Beginning with Senator Cummins' attack on the measure as explanation unjust to the agricultural interests of the country, and concluding with Senator Borah's denunciation of the bill as Republican betrayal of the farming interests, the debate was all antagonistic to the agreement and critical of the President and his methods.

The Senate gave but partial attention to the speeches, although they weer among the most important that will be made against the bill. Several times a call of the Senate was demanded.

Senator Cummins not only attacked the construction of the reciprocity agreement itself, which he said put the whole burden of free trade upon the farmer without giving him any benefits in the guise of reduction of duty on manufactured products, but he criticised also the power exercised by the President to negotiate it, and to bring it to the point of a definite agreement between the two countries.

In doing this, said Senator Cummins, the President had usurped the powers of Congress, and had exceeded the power lodged in him, to deal with foreign nations upon revenue matters.

"I know that the day has come for the farmer," declared Senator Cummins, "the day in which he is to be excluded from the benefits of the protective tariff. The decree has been written; it needs only the official signature for the time being to exclude him from the company of the manufacturers of the United States."

Senator Bacon asked Mr. Cummins if he thought legislation in the Senate ought to be influenced by threat of a veto from the President.

"It is abhorrent to me," replied Mr. Cummins," "to hear the suggestion that any Senator will be influenced by the probable action of the chief executive on the completed legislation.

"We have been assaulted here day after day with the reiteration, apparently authoritative, that if this bill is amended in any way it will be vetoed by the President. I am not saying that the President of the United States is responsible for these statements. I only know that they are so uniform and so emphatic that they have found lodgment in the minds of many Senators, who believe they can make no change in this bill, however meritorious those amendments may be.

"It is the beginning of the end of the dignity, the power and the respectability of Congress and the Senate to have it repeated here day after day that we must not amend this bill because it will meet with the disapproval of the executive.

"I wish some one more able than I am would stand here and denounce the attempt to influence legislation in the Senate through such suggestions. I wish the Senate could reassert its immunity from influence of the character that has been presented in this fight."

"I am not willing to concede that President Taft in the crusade in which he is now engaged," said Senator Bristow, "represents the Republican party to this nation. He does not represent the majority of the Republican members of the House or Senate, and I believe he does not represent the sentiments of a majority of the Republicans of the country."

Senator Borah declared the establishment of free trade in agricultural products was either a denial of the principles for which the Republican party had heretofore stood, or a "coarse" and brutal betrayal of the most loyal constituency the party organization has ever had.

"No page in the political history can equal this betrayal by the Republican party of this great and loyal constituency," he said.

Newport, R. I., June 27.—Warships of the Atlantic fleet will assist in the celebration of the Nation's birthday in eight different ports next Tuesday, according to an announcement made tonight by Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commander of the fleet. BANKER MORSE AGAIN FAILED

Denied Writ of Habeas Corpus in Effort to Obtain Release From Atlanta Prison—Judge Newman's Opinion.

Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—Charles W. Morse today was denied a writ of habeas corpus for which he applied to Federal Judge Newman to obtain his release from the Atlanta prison, where he is serving a 15-year sentence for the violation of the banking laws.

Judge Newman did not pass upon the contention that Morse could not be forced legally to serve more than ten years of his sentence, but he sustained the validity of ten years of the sentence. He rejected Morse's plea that the Atlanta prison could not be used for the confinement of those sentenced to imprisonment without hard labor.

"I do not think that any relief can be granted under this petition at this time," said Judge Newman. "The question is whether this petition presents anything which would require that something be done now for the petitioner. I think this sentence is unquestionably good for ten years. Whether it is good for 15 years cannot be passed on at this time. I would unquestionably have no right now to interfere with the sentence if it is for ten years. I do not believe that Morse's status as a prisoner can be determined upon a writ of habeas corpus which, as presented in this case, is an anticipatory petition. The writ of habeas corpus is to determine whether or not the prisoner shall be discharged or remanded.

"I do not see how upon such a petition the question of hard labor can be determined. If, however, I were to give a judgment upon this question, I would say that the Atlanta penitentiary can be used for those sentenced to imprisonment without hard labor. If it were otherwise, the most I could do would be to decide that the Attorney General or other proper authorities be requested to transfer Morse to some other institution. I do not think this would be more desirable than the present place of imprisonment. Indeed, I would think it would be unfortunate if the prisoners were not compelled to do some kind of work. I am satisfied that no relief can be granted at this time under this petition and I shall be compelled to deny it."

Morse contended that the court should fix his status as being a prisoner under a ten-year sentence or under a 15-year sentence in order that the question as to how much the sentence should be reduced by good behavior or when a parole might be applied for should and could be known by Morse in advance.

Attorney R. R. Arnold, representing Morse, gave notice that the case would be carried to the Court of Appeals for the fifth circuit.

NURSE IN LOVE WITH HIM.

Accompanies Dr. Faulkner to Kinston Home to Nurse Him to Health.

Richmond, a., June 28.—Determined to nurse him back to health and strength, if such a thing is possible, pretty Miss Etta Mae Newton, of Wallace, Va., who recently graduated from the nurses' training school of Virginia hospital, left that institution this afternoon, accompanying Dr. Thomas Graham Faulkner, a young physician of Kinston, N. C., who broke his neck three months ago, bathing in a stream at Dover, N. C., where he was a resident physician for Goldsboro Lumber Company.

Faulkner was removed on a stretcher to the train, which was to take him home, and despite the fact he has paralysis from shoulders down to tip of toes, seemed in excellent spirits while Miss Newton ministered to his every want.

She and Faulkner met and loved at first sight when he was interne at hospital last year, and she a member of training school.

When he was brought to Richmond after the accident, he was taken to St. Luke's hospital. There, surgeons performed an operation on the fractured vertebrae, which was declared to be highly successful. Soon afterward Faulkner was removed to Virginia hospital, at his request, so that Miss Newton, who had not been graduated, might be by his side and nurse him. Since then, she has been a constant attendant, and will continue to nurse him at his home.

It was said today that the pair might marry shortly to put a finishing touch on the romance. Faulkner was also accompanied home by Dr. E. H. Faulkner, of Kinston, his father.

AERO FLIES TO STEAMER.

Burpee Carries a Package to White Star Liner.

New York, June 28.—The first piece of merchandise ever delivered at sea by aeroplane fell on the upper deck of the giant White Star line Olympic today as she steamed through the Narrows, outward bound on her maiden Eastward passage. W. Atlee Burpee, of Philadelphia, had contracted for delivery of the package before sailing with a department store, which in turn engaged Thomas Sopwith, the English aviator, who recently took up Henry W. Taft, the President's brother for a sky ride. With Richard R. Sinclair, secretary of the Aero Club, holding the package, Sopwith rose from the aviation grounds at Garden City and timed his flight to meet the liner in the Narrows.

While Sopwith controlled the aeroplane Sinclair dropped the package at the given signal. No word came from on board, whether it had landed or not, but to those on nearby craft and to the aviators it seemed certain that it had fallen true.

TILDEN DISCLAIMS AID FOR LORIMER

COMPLETE DENIAL ON STAND

His Methods of Bookkeeping and Loyalty to Democratic Party Alike Under Fire — Many New Features.

Washington, June 28.—His methods of book-keeping and his loyalty to the Democratic party alike were under fire today when Edward Tilden, bank director, packing house manager, and corporation man generally, appeared before the Senate Lorimer Committee to testify that he was in no way interested in the raising of a fund to elect Mr. Lorimer to the Senate.

Attorneys for the committee, attorneys for Senator Lorimer, and members of the committee itself asked Mr. Tilden in almost every conceivable style of question if he had anything to do, or knew of any one that had anything to do with the raising of a fund to elect Senator Lorimer, either before or after the election. To each the witness declared with emphasis that he did not.

Mr. Tilden then was subjected to an examination as to his relations to corporations. He mentioned first that he was president of the National Packing Company, and later added the names of five other Chicago corporations, of which he was president besides being the head of concerns in other cities. He was "confused" when asked by Senator Kenyon to state of how many corporations he was president "because of the minor companies."

He "thought" he was director of banks in Sioux City, Ia.; St. Joseph, Mo., and San Francisco, and he gave a long list of banks of which he was a stockholder, but forgot until nearly the end of his testimony to mention a bank in East St. Louis. Either as treasurer or in some other capacity, he testified, he had the right to draw checks on the bank accounts of "25 or 30 corporations."

The witness testified that he did not keep accurate books of his personal business, merely loose leaf memoranda of his receipts and disbursements and only memoranda of checks written instead of check stubs. Senator Kern had the witness describe in minute detail his personal book-keeping.

The witness said that he was not proud of his system, but that it answered the purpose, namely that of keeping track of money until banked.

The drawing of a check for $100,000 for personal expenditure might not be entered in his personal accounts, he said, and he might or might not be able to tell, for instance in 1908, whether he had loaned or paid any one $100,000.

"We might be able to tell if we all went at it," he added. "Such a question never came up. I am paid a big salary to run the business of a large corporation and I know a great deal less about my own affairs than about those of the company."

The committee did not ask Mr. Tilden to produce his bank books for inspection. He declared they showed nothing whatever, connected with the election of Mr. Lorimer, and the committee told him "For the present and possible for all time," it was through with its examination of him.

It was Senator Kern, Democratic nominee for Vice President in the last campaign, who put Mr. Tilden's Democracy to question. This was some time after the witness had testified he was a Democrat.

"You are a Democrat, are you?" he inquired.

"I am if I know what a Democrat is."

"That's just what I thought. Will you give us the name of the last candidate for President for whom you voted?"

"Including Vice President," interrupted Senator Kenyon.

The witness did not reply, but Senator Kern kept eyeing him.

"Are you serious?" inquired Mr. Tilden.

"Of course I am," responded Senator Kern.

"Alton B. Parker."

"Who before that?"

"I was a delegate to the convention that nominated Mr. Bryan—"

"But who was the Democrat you voted for before Parker?"

"Grover Cleveland."

"So you supported one Democratic candidate for President in 19 years," snapped the Indiana Senator. "Now don't you know that the stockholders of the National Packing Company, which is under indictment for an alleged violation of the law have complained to the late chairman of the Republican National Committee and now postmaster general about being indicted, although they contributed heavily to the Republican campaign fund?"

"No sir."

"Don't know that?"

"No sir."

SHOOTS RAPIDS IN BARREL.

"Bobby" Leach Sustained Serious Injuries at Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 28.—"Bobby" Leach, of Niagara Falls, Ont., in a barrel trip through the whirlpool rapids and the whirlpool today sustained injuries which may result fatally. Starting from the Old Maid of the Mist landing at 11 o'clock, he was tumbled through the rapids, the steel barrel several times was shot clear of the water in the rush to the pool. The barrel was swept into the middle of the pool and remained there for two hours before it swung close enough to the shore to be captured by watchers on the shore. Several times the barrel was sucked under. Leach, a man of 50, was bleeding from wounds.

FINE GAME TODAY.

Coast Line Team Will Oppose Strong Nine From Warsaw.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock at the local ball park, the lovers of the National pastime will have an opportunity of seeing what will probably prove by far the most interesting game of the present season.

The strong Atlantic Coast Line team of the City League will stack up against an aggregation of college stars gathered together at Warsaw and the local boys promise to amend for their two recent defeats by downing the visitors in this, the first of a series of games to determine the amateur championship of North Carolina.

The Coast Line team, as it lines up today, is considered by many to be the fastest amateur team ever got together in this section. Corbett, from St. Mary's College at Belmont, will adorn the mound for the Railroaders. He is touted as the best flinger that has appeared on the local diamond this season and his work will be watched with interest by those who anticipate seeing him put them across during the remainder of the local league season. Starritt, of Roanoke College, will be at the receiving end. He has already established a record as a heady backstop and his accurate pegging and timely hitting has been a large factor in keeping the Coast Line ahead of the whole field in the City League. The old reliable infield, Terry, Emerson and Houston, will be seen in their usual positions, assisted by Taylor, whose sensational fielding at short has featured the games in which he has played. In the outfield Calder, Grainger and Gus Wright will preside. Calder has the reputation of being the hardest hitting outfielder in the league. Grainger is well known for his spectacular fielding and work on the bases, while Gus Wright needs no introduction to the local fans.

It is a formidable array of talent against which the boys from Warsaw are to perform, and the chances look bright for a local victory.

However, the Warsaw team is composed almost entirely of college stars, prominent among whom are Lee, Sloan and Witherington, three of Carolina's best men, who assisted materially in carving a niche in the baseball hall of fame for their alma mater during the past season.

A large excursion will arrive here from Warsaw today and practically all of the visitors will be on hand at the game to help their team to victory if ardent rooting will avail anything.

The price of admission will be 25 cents and it is expected that the stands will carry more of a burden than at any previous game this season. Cool drinks and the usual refreshments will be on sale, hustling caterers and a convenient car schedule has been promised by the Tidewater Power Company.

TIDEWATER GAVE GROUNDS.

Also Gave Free Transportation to Players and a Trophy.

"Editor Star:—By reference to your issue of Sunday, June 25th, you will note an article entitled, "Rotten Car Service," wherein the statement is made that the city baseball league pays to the Tidewater Power Co., a regular rental for the use of the old league baseball park. In justice to the Tidewater Power Co., permit me to state that this is erroneous as the Tidewater Power Co., granted the use of the park to the City Baseball League for the balance of the season free of charge, also furnishes free transportation to and from all practice and other games, both to players and others intersted officially and presented a fifty-dollar trophy cup for which the teams are now contesting.

"Very truly yours,
"CHAS. DUSHAN,
"President City Baseball League."

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST.

Significant Letters Sent Out Advocating Ex-Gov. Aycock.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 28.—Friends throughout the State are receiving a significant circular letter in the interest of the candidacy of ex-Governor Chas. B. Aycock, for the United States Senatorship, to succeed Senator Simmons. It is an attractive folder and contains the formal announcement of the ex-Governor that, yielding to importunings of friends in every section of the State, he had decided to enter the race. And following this there are given clippings from newspapers all over the State, and from individuals endorsing the Aycock candidacy, the showing that the folder is intended to make believe that Governor Aycock is welcomed into the race as the "people's choice" for the Senatorship.

WARE STILL ON STAND.

Trial Has Been Going on for Nearly Three Weeks.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 28.—The cross examination of F. D. Ware, president of the Ware-Kramer Co., is still under way in the Federal court where the $1,200,000 damage suit against the American Tobacco Co., has been in progress for nearly three weeks. The examination is directed to forcing the witness to admit that within a very few months after the formation of the Ware-Kramer Co., they began the use of special secret inside discounts, free goods and other trade abuses that they charge the American Tobacco Co., with breaking up their business with. The reading of letters exchange by Ware and salesmen and jobbers furnished the basis for cross examination, Ware making explanations as to many of these concessions to the effect that they were forced to meet the warfare that was made on them by the A. T. Co.

The cross examination as to special discounts and free goods dragged through a mass of correspondence and cigarette transactions extending back to April, 1905, a little over four months after the Ware-Kramer Co., was formed. Norfolk and Richmond were two of the principal points dealt with in this way and Mr. Ware scored in reading context of letters that showed that the company sharply condemned the special discounts that salesmen had allowed that enabled Richmond and Norfolk jobbers to cut prices to the trade in Virginia and Carolina. Theo. Brown was a salesman who figured prominently in the correspondence and both Brown and Ware stated in correspondence read that one deal that Brown had made through mistaken deal had cost the Ware-Kramer Co. the sale of a million cigrettes. But Brown wrote that Salesmanager Moseley, of the A. T. Co., in his territory, was making deals of the sort and had come to brief as badly as he had.

Letters were produced by the defendant showing special inside discounts to the Retail Merchants Cigar Association, New York, that cut the cost of White Rolls far below the market price. Ware explained that through this deal he placed his cigarettes in over 3,000 stores and saved the expense of one or more salesmen and that he figured in making the deal that he was really saving money in trade expense and was reaching a very important market.

The cross examination turned to the re-organization of the Ware-Kramer Co., when stock of Boyles and others was sold to Leftwich and other Baltimore capitalists and the factory moved to Norfolk. Ware was closely questioned as to that deal and the manipulation of stock by which the Baltimore interests bought at 110 and then a stock dividend of $15,000 declared sa that the holder of every $1,000 of stock received $600 new stock; also the addition of $7,500 each to the book value of machinery and tobacco on hand to justify the new stock dividend. Ware explained that machinery had been entered as a bankrupt sale purchase price and that their tobaccos had increased in value through market advances.

WRECK IN PHILADELPHIA.

Two Fatally Hurt and 20 Slightly Injured Yesterday.

Philadelphia, June 28. — Engineer Lenjamin H. Dolan, aged 43, and Ernest W. Evans, a passenger, aged 27, of Asbury Place, Chestnut Hill, were probably fatally injured and 20 other passengers were badly cut, bruised and scalded tonight when an express train bound for Chestnut Hill collided with the tender of a freight locomotive at the entrance of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad's tunnel at 21st and Hamilton streets. One of Dolan's legs was broken in three places and he was so badly scalded that physicians despair of saving his life.

Evans' face is badly crushed and he was severely scalded. He was a passenger in the second of the three passenger coaches which with a baggage car made up the train.

After the engine had crushed into the tender, the first coach of the train slipped past the obstruction, but the following coaches were thrown on their sides. The cars were filled with passengers bound for the suburbs. When they were overturned the escaping steam from the damaged locomotive caused a panic.

Persons were severely cut by the broken windows of the cars through which they had to crawl to reach a place of safety. Ambulances were quickly summoned and 22 of the injured were conveyed to nearby hospitals.

WILSON SPOKE IN GOTHAM.

New Jersey Governor Given Warm Welcome Last Night.

Newark, N. J., June 28.—Governor Woodrow Wilson was given a cordial reception here tonight when several hundred persons gathered for a dinner given in his honor by the Woodrow Wilson League and heard him deliver an address on political reform in both State and Nation. The banquet was intended formally to open the "good government," campaign which the league proposes conductin.

"The main object of what we are attempting, both in State and Nation," Governor Wilson said, "is to establish a close connection, a very sensitive connection, between the people and their governments, both in the State and in the Nation, in order that we may restore in such wise as will satisfy us again, the liberty and the opportunity in whose interests our government's were conceived.

"There has, in recent months, been a great clearing of the field in politics, and nowhere has this been more apparent than in New Jersey. Great measures of reform, upon which opinion was quite made up long before the last session of the Legislature, have new been put upon the statute book. The strain and debate for their formulation and passage are over, and we can look about us to see what the purpose of them was, and, to some extent, what the result has been. Public opinion has at last found its voice in a free Legislature, and there is a feeling on all hands that the people have again taken control of their own affairs.

"No one who moves from one part of this country to another in circumstances likely to enable him to judge what is actually going on in the minds of the people can have any fear as to the future of politics or of economic development in America. The thought of the country is very sober; it is very thorough-going, it is true. The facts of our industrial life are becoming plainer and plainer, the responsibilities are being disclosed more and more clearly, and some of the things which it will be necessary to do in order to open again the gates of opportunity, in order to distribute credit in such a way as to vitalize the whole industrial process, in order to bring about those re-adjustments without much friction and danger will daily increase are becoming every year more obvious to the people who think not like children, but like men who are not afraid of their own thinking, and who are ready to act when they see what is to be done. Those who fear are those who do not understand, and only those are in danger who will not heartily, and honestly, and disinterestedly co-operate."

SOCIALISM WAS CONDEMNED.

Called Heresy by Archbishop Messmer at Catholic Congress.

Chicago, June 28.—Socialism was condemned as a heresy and an evil and all Catholics were warned against it by Archbishop Sebastian C. Messmer, of Milwaukee, who was one of the central figures in today's proceedings of the Catholic Educational Congress in session here.

"Socialism is a heresy and an evil, the viciousness of which is apparent to every thinking man," aid the Milwaukee archbishop.

"The immorality which socialism breeds and the dangers which it leads to can be averted only by the influence of religious teachings."

HOW ABOUT YOUR VOICE?

Don't you know that good voices depend upon the teeth very often? If there is anything the matter with the teeth and they are broken, hollow, or defective, you should see to them right away. ACTIVITY AT THE "POINT."

Marine News Feature of Week—Other Interesting Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Point, N. C., June 28.—Rocky Point's port of entry—Lane's Ferry—has been the scene of much maritime activity this week. Harbor Master William Carter states that ten steamers have been in port this week Among them steamer Duplin, Singletary, master, receiving a cargo of eggs and Spring chickens consigned to Wilmington market by Clifton Davis & Co.; steamer W. T. Riggan, Daily Futch, master, is here taking on a cargo of gum cross-ties for Philadelphia; steamer Davis, Davis, master, cargo of shingles direct to New York.

We are under obligations to Mayor Carter for a package of as fine honey, apiary on the sand hills, as ever came from Mount Hymnetus. He states that owing to extreme drought the crop of sweets will be short this season, but that it is made up by being extra sweet. His bees extract their nectar from white clover and gallberries.

Yesterday a fish fry and picnic was pulled off at this popular watering place. The young people report a most pleasant time. Capt. J. H. Sharp, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting his farm "Excelsior," and finds things moving off very nicely considering the drought. He has introduced improved implements and is fertilizing the crops liberally.

Cappen White, of Wilmington, veteran of the Third North Carolina Upholsters, is at Dr. Williams putting on artistic interior finish in a first-class manner.

President L. D. Lamar Smith, of the popularville (Miss.) College, and bride, nee Miss Callie Newton, of Rose Hill, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Armstrong.

Rains seem to have fallen north of us, the air is cool and bracing, nights and mornings. Crops are rapidly being laid-by. Some corn, cotton and peanut crops are looking well. Mr. C. P. Miller Sheppard had his first peppers and tomatoes yesterday. He states that both peppers and tomatoes are nearly two weeks late. There has been "good money" in cukes this season. Short crops have kept prices up. A few beans are yet going forward.

HIGH HONOR TO HAMMOND.

Special American Ambassador to Coronation Tendered Dinner.

London, June 28.—The dinner of the Pilgrims' Society tonight in honor of John Hays Hammond, special American ambassador at the coronation, gave occasion for four speeches which were considered by all present the best exhibition of after dinner oratory heard in London for a long time. The speakers were Arthur J. Balfour, former prime minister; Mr. Hammond, Augustin Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, and Chauncey M. Depew, former United States Senator.

Covers were laid for 250 and much disappointment was felt that the officers of the United States battleship Delaware were unable to attend as they were to have been along with Mr. Hammond the special guests of the evening. Rear Admiral Charles E. Vreeland, who represented the Navy Department at the coronation, sent a wireless from the Delaware expressing regrets that the exigencies of the service prevented th Delaware's officers from being there. The army was represented by the officers who took part in the horse show.

There was a scene of enthusiasm when a message was read that as the result of a conference between Secretary of State Knox and Ambassador Bryce, a treaty had been practically arranged for the arbitration of all differences between the two countries.

Mr. Balfour observed that Americans had their problems of empire and other difficulties just as Great Britain had and whatever temporary quarrels had from time to time appeared between England and the United States the realities of history were too strong for them. They could not help being in sympathy with each other.

Both countries were enamored of liberty; both had the same ideals and surely it was predestined that in the world's history of the future they should work together, not by formal alliance, but by deep sympathy in aims and ideals for the cause of civilization and progress.

Special Ambassador Hammond, in responding to Mr. Balfour's toast spoke on "Peace."

"The governments might still incline to misunderstandings," said the speaker, "but the great producing classes, who had built up the industries of the nations and were its bone and sinew, were in favor of universal peace."

It was felicitous coincidence that the coronation of King George occurred at the moment so exceptionally auspicious for Anglo-American relations, and he believed that the arbitration between the United States and Great Britain would speedily be followed by similar treaties with other powers, paving the way for universal peace.

"Every patriotic Englishman, every patriotic American, irrespective of political bias, should join in a fervent prayer for the speedy consummation of this noble purpose."

Secretary Birrell proposed "The American Visitors," to which Mr. Depew made a felicitous speech in response.

Among the diners were Ambassador Reid and the staff of the American embassay; Special Ambassador Hammond's staff and sons; Home Secretary Churchill, Lord Alverstone, Lord Chief Justice of England; Charles P. Taft, Richard C. Kerens, the American ambassador to Austria-Hungary; John L. Griffiths, the American consul general at London; Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, formerly British ambassador at Washington, and many others of prominence.

One of the queerest society functions of the coronation season was given tonight by Sir Philip Burne-Jones, the painter, and Sir Richard and Lady Murtel Paget at the Burne-Jones residence, which was converted for the occasion to resemble an atelier in the Quartier Latin.

It was styled "Small and Jolly" and was intended to be a Bohemian contrast to the society parties. All the chairs were removed and there were no floral decorations. Formal receptions were dispensed with and the guests huddled on the floor on rugs, on the stair cases or in the back garden, the men smoking "church wardens" and some of the women cigarettes.

"If they wanted refreshments they had to help themselves from a big cask of lager beer which stood in the corner of the room wreathed with greens. It was a free and easy affair, all quaffing beer and joining in the chorus of "drinking song," but the supper, somewhat inconsistently was one of epicurean delicacy. It was served on the floor or the stairs or wherever there was room to put a plate.

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Wilmington Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills act on sick kidneys. Here's Wilmington proof:

S. C. Winner, 215 E. Market St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I still believe Doan's Kidney Pills to be an excellent kidney medicine and I cheerfully confirm the testimonial I gave in their favor in February, 1908. HARDWARE MEN MEET SOON.

State Convention In Asheville Will Be Largely Attended.

Asheville, N. C., June 28.—One of the largest and most important conventions that will meet in Asheville this Summer is the Hardware Association of the two Carolinas, the seventh annual convention of which meets at the Battery Park Hotel, July 11th to 14th. The local hardware firms are greatly interested in the convention and are determined to do their part to make the meting a success. It is likely that there will be at least 300 members at this convention and a programme of entertainment and business has been arranged covering the four day's session.

Otis Green, of Asheville, is the third vice president of the association and has taken an active part in arranging the entertainment and the programme. He stated that the secretary had secured 26 new members to the association and that he was still at work. He also stated that every available room at the Battery Park Hotel had been engaged and that reservations had been made at the Swannanoa-Berkeley and Margo Terrace.

Not the least interesting feature of the convention will be the display of hardware which will be made by the members. This is one of the regular feacures, but Mr. Green stated that the display this year would far surpass anything of its kind heretofore displayed. The convention met in Asheville two years ago.

SUGAR BEETS IN THIS STATE.

Probably Can be Raised in Asheville Section—Details.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Asheville, N. C., June 28.—A conference is to be arranged between W. A. Withers, of Raleigh, chemist of the Agricultural Department, and E. D. Weaver, agricultural demonstrator for Buncombe county, with reference to raising the sugar beet in this section. Mr. Withers has been here for several days and a telephone message was sent to Weaverville to Mr. Weaver today asking that he come to Asheville for the conference, but he was not at home and the conference will be deferred until Friday possibly. Mr. Withers went to Hendersonville today and will return for the conference. Last year sugar beet seeds were distributed among some of the farmers of this section and it is said that they did not supply the demand. The conference is for the purpose of encouraging the industry.

TIM HOLDERFIELD PARDONED.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 28.—Governor Kitchin pardoned today Tim Holderfield, serving ten years in the penitentiary as an accomplice of Earl Cotton in the murder of W. E. Smith, of Richmond, traveling salesman for a coal company there, three years ago. Cotton is serving 30 years and a second accomplice, Red Hopkins, has served his two years' sentence. Holderfield was clerk for Cotton in a near-beer saloon where Smith was drugged before he was robbed and thrown into the Rock Quarry, where his body was found on Sunday morning. Governor Kitchin states that Holderfield was in the employ of Cotton and acted under his direction, the police justice, the trial judge and jury, solicitor and others joining in recommendation for pardon, he not being regarded as a vicious man. The pardon is conditioned on good behavior.

TEXACO ROOFING

is made of solid, extra heavy, first quality, wool felt, thoroughly saturated with Texaco Bitumen, over 99 per cent pure, and afterward finished with an extra heavy coating of the same material.

TEXACO BITUMEN—over 99 per cent pure — possesses great fire-resisting properties, is not oxidized by the action of the elements, is impervious to the action of acids, fumes and gases, is not injured by the extremes of heat and cold, and remains adhesive and pliable.

The weakest point of ready roofing is at the lap, due to the disintegration and hardening of the cement used, but Texaco Roofing Cement, made of bitumen over 99 per cent pure, insures a permanent waterproof lap.

The principal merits of TEXACO ROOFING are:
ECONOMY of first cost and application.
SIMPLICITY and ease of application.
PERFECTION of weather and water-resisting qualities.
MAXIMUM of strength and durability.
FIRE-RESISTING.
PLIABILITY and immunity from injury by extremes of temperature; and, last but not least,
A PERMANENT LAP, by use of Texaco Roofing Cement, which gives security, strength and waterproofing at the weakest point of a roof.

Don't jaw back. Life's too short.

Admiral Togo will visit the United States in August, but Capt. Hobson will not find it necessary to hide under the settee.

Unless a married man works overtime, his excuses are limited for not being home early enough to take his wife to the picture show.

Why should Col. Bryan "shut up" when everybody else is having his say? Why should anybody shut up when the rule is to "speak out in meeting?"

When you "drop your candy" kick it into the gutter and let it go at that. By so doing you set a good example to those who are pre-disposed to waste grief over spilt milk.

"Let George do it? We are afraid try." Words to that effect should not and will not be entertained for a minute by the people of any town which realizes the importance of industries.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch insists that the "young things" should learn to make button holes. Wherefore, for the first time the girls will see the point in the now famous saying of "Let George do it."

Pinchot and Glavis were not exactly exiled for standing up for the public interest, but they landed in the soup with a splash for butting into a special interest game before the stakes had been raked off the table.

Mammon matrimony is the kind in which money takes the place of the natural affection that brings more happiness than gold. When a woman marries to get an empty title she becomes a party to a titular tangle.

A wealthy California ranch owner advertises that he wants to marry but the girl must be ugly. Owing to the fact that North Carolina girls are naturally pretty, not a one of them could comply with his hard condition.

A farmer living near Greenville, S. C., is the proud possessor of a cow with seventeen horns. We have never seen a cow with that many but we have had to face dilemmas that had more horns than any South Carolina cow.

There's nothing in it simply because a politician claims that the people will be in charge of the government if they will elect him to an office. It is owing altogether to whether a politician will give more heed to the public interests than he will to his own varied opportunities.

There is no honor in occupying a seat in the United States Senate if an aspirant has to buy it. We say this because some men are possessed of the strange idea that honors are purchasable. When men cannot honorably get what they are after they should refrain from diving down for their pocket change. There are some things that men shouldn't buy although they may have a barrel of money. It is also equally important to be extremely prudent about how you get rich quick.

When it takes powerful campaigning to get new fangled political ideas into the head of the average man who has to work for a living, it's a sign that it hasn't got any business in a party platform. Candidates with patriotism, integrity and brains count for more than the average high sounding platform made to get in on but which often turns out to be something to stay out on. We've seen some platform that were not fit for gun wadding after they had proven to be the main cause of defeat.

AN ENORMOUS INDUSTRY.

Rapid rail transportation and special trains of refrigerator cars is the main factor in the tremendous growth of trucking and early crop growing in the South. Not so very many years ago the Northern markets had to depend on the early products of Florida, for which the necessary transportation was arranged, but on the main lines now running through the South to the North, the shipping facilities of the Southern systems have developed truck raising and fruit growing into an enormous industry that has spread from Virginia to Florida. The growth of the business has now reached a marvelous scale and by way of noting it the Fayetteville Observer says:

"We have been informed that 90 car loads of watermelons passed through this city last Sunday. One train had 25 cars loaded with the luscious fruit. What an enormous industry the shipping of fruit and vegetables from the Southern States has grown to be! Hour after hour, day after day, week after week the great trains roll Northward and Westward bearing the products of Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida; and then a little later from South Carolina and North Carolina; and then from Virginia and Tennessee. And these carload shipments are supplemented continually by small shipments of a few crates at a time, until the grand total is something astounding. Verily, when we remember that our fair Southland is doing far greater things than even this in her cotton, corn and tobacco fields, her cotton mills, wood working plants, iron and coal mines, we can say without fear of contradiction that it is the grandest and most favored country on the globe."

The Observer calls attention to what is a daily business along the Atlantic Coast Line, the Seaboard Air Line and the Southern Railway. They are certainly great assets of the South Atlantic States and of such cities as New York, which have to depend upon the early products of the South to make life worth living from early Spring till late Summer. What immense factors they are, too, in developing the resources of these incomparable States. They have been the life of the agricultural and manufacturing industries of this fair portion of our country and it is a fortunate region which lies along the Atlantic Coast Line's magnificent system of progressive lines. We speak specially of the Coast Line, for it cleaves the finest region of North Carolina from north to south and its branch lines radiate in all directions over a territory which cannot be surpassed upon the face of the earth.

A number of years back the railroads mainly depended for freight in carrying the South's cotton and lumber and in bringing back to us supplies that we ought have been producing at home. The trucking and fruit growing industry was hardly thought of, but now it is widespread and is furnishing the railrodas with an immense proportion of their traffic.

This shows what developing the resources of a country means to the railroads, to the producing area and to the ready markets of the Northern States and Canada. After all, the industry is the development of the railroads, for if they did not provide the proper facilities there would be little of it. It is the refrigerator car service and express facilities that make trucking and fruit growing potential factors in our growth and development. Take these away and there would be none of it. New York and the hungry millions in the North would have to wait for their local production and that would be exceedingly limited if the markets had to depend upon them.

What was an infant industry around Wilmington a few years ago has grown into an industry with ever increasing possibilities. With a few shipments in the early years of the industry, strawberry and early vegetable production has assumed such proportions that all along the Coast Line we see solid trains of refrigerator cars made up and hurried to their Northern distination. What could be done without these facilities?

What do we gather from this? Why it is that the country which has these facilities for reaching Northern markets supplying 30,000,000 people, is the ideal location for homeseekers. The new settler wants to go where he can make something and get it to market as economically and as quickly as possible. When he can find a healthful country with schools and churches and lands which produce abundantly and quite profitably for the labor expended, he will locate on the north-and-south lines that afford all these advantages. We also gather that it is a happy home people who have the chance for life and success along the Atlantic Coast Line where ideal transportation is already established and systematically sustained, instead of being in a country where such advantages have yet to be introduced.

The reason why agriculture, trucking, fruit-growing and manufacturing is growing in eastern North Carolina is because its natural resources are augmented by unexcelled railroad service. There is nothing to be wondered at that the trucking and fruit industry is enormous when we consider the millions of consumers who make demands upon us and who will continue to do so as long as we are able to supply the demand.

The next station is the Fourth of July. Tie up the boy.

REACHING OUT FOR INDUSTRIES.

In this the Durham Herald surely utters a parable: "North Carolina needs more manufacturing enterprises and where there are a dozen or so good towns that offer equal advantages the town that is willing to put up most in the way of the substantials is going to get them. Asheville is about to start the thing and this will put it up to the rest of us." The town which is going to be successful in getting industries is the one that is going to "Reach Out" after them or build them with home capital. To reach out after them will bring them and to build them will assure the industrial development of a city.

Asheville has gone to work to reach out and get factories. That is a kind of get-factories corporation which those enterprising people have started, just such as the Star has been harping on several years.

The fact is towns which offer capital and other inducement are going to get manufacturing industries ahead of even the towns which have greater adaptibilities for manufacturing. It is not free factory sites and low taxes that appeal to manufacturers but it is the advantage of location. That consists, first of all, of distributing and transportation facilities, and the available territory to be reached by the products of a factory. The matter of receiving raw material and shipping finished products is everything to a factory, and if you were to give away a thousand acres for a factory site where there were no distributing facilities and in a locality where the tax rate was almost nothing, it would be no inducement to a manufacturer who knows his business and who figures on success instead of free gifts in some out-of-the-way place.

It is such places as Wilmington where a great industrial center can be built up if we will build industries and reach out after them. Reaching out after them is offering capital to meritorious propositions and offering them inducements of various kinds.

Even by reaching out and offering inducements, many cities have not the adaptibilities and advantages for manufacturing such as Wilmington's ocean and river navigation, fine railroad facilities, geographic position as to territory to be exploited, school, church and social advantages, climate and low taxes. The crowning feature of all these adaptibilities for manufacturing is a belt line railroad which connects with the harbor and all the distributing railways. It runs in and out of the city limits, so that a manufacturer can take his choice of paying the city rate and getting the advantages of all the modern utilities or of going further out on the belt where the low county tax rate prevails, while still being in touch with the city and all the means of transportation, just as if they were right down town.

However, it is distributing facilities and low freight rates that will decide whether a city is an ideal location for industries. On that score Wilmington is the premier, so all we have to do is to reach out and keep on reaching out for industries while we are building some ourselves.

NEW ELECTRICAL DEVELOPMENT.

It is understood that the Gould interests will at once begin work upon their scheme for developing an immense hydro-electric plant at the rapids of the Roanoke river, near Weldon. The Wilson Times says the work will begin at once, and that it "will doubtless mean much for Wilson, as it is probable that all towns and cities of importance within a radius as near as this town will be supplied with power from the projected plant." Says the Times:

"What the Southern Power Company is to central Carolina, the Gould Company will most likely be to this section, a distributor of comparatively cheap power to manufacturers, etc. Over a hundred cotton mills in central Carolina besides other industries have discarded their wasteful and costly steam plants for the clean and more economical electric power furnished by the Southern Power Company. Again, the company which is to develop the Roanoke power will doubtless be able to save the city and its people a considerable sum in lighting the streets and houses, and also the bringing of this power here will almost insure the building of a street car line. We hope the work on the proposed power plant will be hastened and that Wilson will be one of the towns served by the company."

There isn't any doubt that Wilson will share the advantages of the power development on the Roanoke, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that if the power to be developed will warrant it, the Gould transmission lines will be run to Wilmington. At any rate, the development of the great waterpower on the Roanoke is an enterprise of the most inviting character, so far as the investment of capital is concerned, and it will be the sure means of a wonderful development in all the territory which the Gould people intend to serve.

When the facts stare you in the face, what's the use to prevaricate?

Anyhow, the United States Senate repudiated Root's special interest idea of reciprocity.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Unlike some other towns, Durham has had blind tigers from the beginning and some of those that got in on the ground floor are here yet.—Durham Herald.

Senator Simmons' proposal to tax all automobiles on interstate travel, in the interest of good roads, is a measure which any progressive American can afford to support and encourage, without regard to political views. And we take it that the owners of automobiles will not be adverse to the proposition since it will aid in the construction of such roads as make auto travel a pleasure.—Asheville Citizen.

When the sugar interests admit that if the duty were removed it would put all of them out of business it simply means that the business is not profitable and is only made so by the fact that the government allows it to charge the people of this country more than sugar is worth. Like all protection, the government forces the many to go down into their pockets and hand it out to the few.—Durham Herald.

Gen. Bixby says the secret of the destruction of the Maine may never be known. Does it really make any difference? Ought not the whole tragedy be regarded as a closed incident? We could not possibly have another quarrel with Spain on account of the matter. Spain has shown the utmost and finest sort of courtesy during the uncovering of the wreck. The Spanish newspapers have printed the news, but they have studiously avoided any comment touching upon the explosion, and no Spanish official has had a word to say with respect to the matter. The demeanor of the Spaniards has been above criticism and beyond reproach, for which, in all fairness, we should make respectful acknowledgments.—Savannah News.

Glavis, the man who started the agitation whereby the Cunningham coal claims have finally been declared invalid, has unaccountably disappeared from the public gaze. He was a subordinate official in the Interior Department. By reason of his insistence upon the illegal nature of these claims and his jumping over the heads of his superiors when they disagreed with him, he created such a furore that he made the government and the people take notice. He also lost his job. A conservative value of the Cunningham coal lands, which today belong to the people of the United States, is $50,000,000. If the claims had been allowed, the country would have received $52,800 for them. Millions of dollars that will now accrue to the people through the cheaper price at which the Alaska coal will be marketed would have gone into the pockets of the Cunningham claimants and the Guggenheim-Morgan syndicate had not Glavis raised merry Ned about it. Oughtn't something be done for Glavis?—Baltimore Evening Sun.

The bill offered in Congress last week by Senator F. M. Simmons for the government to appropriate $1,000,000 for experimental work in the improvement of roads over which rural free delivery mails are carried by the government, and also the desirability of a Federal license tax on automobiles engaged in interstate travel, has caused widespread attention and favorable comment. Government appropriations for rivers and harbors, government appropriations to railroad companies for carrying the mails, have generally received full public endorsement. Water highways developed and kept up by government financial aid, is now recognized and held as an absolute necessity, as much so as the maintenance of any government work, and is nation-wide in its extent. With the establishment of the rural free delivery routes, there followed better county roads, but not to such an extent that gave public highways equal to the needs of the carriers. The growth of the mail routes, the demands of the farming communities that the mails should have no delays, that bad roads might bring about, makes Senator Simmons' bill most timely, and that the government should assist in making better road ways to promote better free mail delivery in the country, is in perfect keeping with the line of governmental aid in developing to greater efficiency its every department of public service. That there should be a Federal license tax on automobiles engaged in interstate travel, appears just and practical, for those who travel in this way should pay in some way to help maintain the public highways over which they enjoy traveling, and which are to the greatest used by automobiles.—Newbern Journal.

JENKINS SMUGGLING CASE.

Goods Alleged to be Worth $2,000,000 Gotten in by Fraud.

New York, June 27.—Customs officials are seeking today evidence that may bring to light every phase of the Jenkins $300,000 jewelry smuggling case, whose ramifications are now said to involve a prominent New York financial man.

The New Yorker is said to have been the father of the scheme whereby goods valued at nearly $2,000,000 were smuggled into this country. Two and possibly more customs officers are said to be in the plot which had its inception several years ago.

Pending official developments ten men and women of social prominence in this city are under surveillance, and the names of a score or more are on the list of Collector Loeb. What particularly stimulated him are intimations he has received that the underground channel through his nets is still open and that members of his staff are implicated.

The collector said today that he is sure of his facts, but he admitted that it might be difficult to prove and he is walking warily until he has the case in satisfactory shape. As the matter stands no action against six inspectors is likely.

RIGID SANITARY ORDINANCE

Applies to Surface Closets and Effective September 1st—Streets to Be Paved—Hospital Must Regard the Law.

With the adoption of a stringent ordinance relative to surface closets, the authorization of the councilman of the department of streets and wharves to pave eight blocks on several streets of the city with vitrified brick and the approval of the action of the superintendent of health in the effort to have the James Walker Memorial Hospital connect with a regular sewer, the Council yesterday accomplished a great deal in the way of improving the city from a sanitary standpoint and also as to street improvement, this being the first work of any real consequence that has been definitely determined upon as to streets. Not only were these matters acted upon but there was some discussion relative to a request of the Tidewater Power Co., to be allowed to build a spur track from Front street to Water on Orange stret. This matter was deferred until the next regular meeting.

For several years past the question has been perplexing the city authorities as to what should be done regarding the many surface closets throughout the city and it was eventually decided that the only thing was to pass a strict ordinance covering the situation and requiring that the closets should be fixed in the most sanitary manner. Carrying out this idea the following ordinance was adopted, the same becoming effective the 1st of September:

"Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Wilmington, N. C. Section 1. That on and after the 1st day of September, A. D. 1911, no surface privy shall be erected, kept or maintained within the corporate limits of the city of Wilmington, unless the same be a sanitary, water oil privy, consisting of two metal receptacles, supplied with lids, and one fly tight box, to cover can. Said box to be provided with a seat and lid which shall automatically close when not in use. The outfit hereinbefore described shall be cleaned and disinfected by the city under the direction of the superintendent of health.

"Section 2. That an annual license tax of $4 shall be paid to the city clerk and treasurer for each sanitary privy kept or maintained, in quarterly installments, to cover the service above provided for.

"Section 3. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall be fined $25 for each and every offense."

After getting the sanitary ordinance out of the way, the question of street paving was brought up and Councilman P. Q. Moore, who is at the head of the street department, said he was ready to proceed with work and if the Council would give him authority he would begin the work at once. It was thought best by several members of the Council to adopt an ordinance specifying just what streets are to be improved and with what material. Carrying out suggestions from members of the Council a motion was made and carried authorizing Councilman P. Q. Moore to have North Fourth street between Grace and the Fourth street bridge paved with vitrified brick, also Ann street from Front to Second and from Fourth to Seventh, and Dock from Front to Second. The work will begin in a very few days, brick having already been ordered that will be sufficient to pave several blocks.

It is understood that Castle street from Front to Sixth street will probably be next improved and General Manager Skelding, of the Tidewater Power Company, has stated that his company is ready to put down such rails as are needed on a brick paved street just as soon as he gets notice that the work is to be done.

Not only are the streets above named to be paved but notices will be mailed at once to all property owners on the said streets requiring the putting down at once of granolithic sidewalks in accordance with an act of the Legislature passed about six years ago.

Just before the Council adjourned City Attorney McClammy made a statement relative to efforts that had been made but without avail to get the authorities of the James Walker Memorial Hospital to have the sewer leading from the hospital connected with the city sewer instead of emptying into Macomber's ditch. He stated that the authorities of the hospital had been notified to abate the nuisance and to connect with the city sewer, this having been done by Dr. Nesbitt, city superintendent of health, and they were furthermore informed that unless the connection was made that the same would be done by the city and the expense of making the connection deducted from the appropriation made by the city to the hospital. This notice, he said, was given some days ago and the authorities refused to do any thing, making it necessary for the city to do the work and that work of making the connection was begun yesterday.

Unless the authorities change their mind and pay for the work it is the intention of the Council to deduct the money from the city apporpriation. Formal authority was given Dr. Nesbitt to have the connection made.

There was some opposition to granting the Tidewater Power Company the right to place a spur track on Orange street from Front to Water to take care of the business of the ice company. Councilman Tiencken thought the property owners on that block should be consulted and Councilman Perdew was not very much in favor of granting the privilege, being of the opinion that it had a value attached to it. Councilman P. Q. and B. C. Moore were both of the opinion that it would be a benefit to business interests of the city and could not see where there could be objection. Mayor Smith did not see why the Council should be so liberal with the Tidewater Power Company as the city gets nothing except what is paid for and the citizens have to pay a fare of thirty-five cents to the beach and return. The same he said was true as to the ice company. It was eventually decided to leave the matter open until the next regular meeting of the Council.

NO LICENSE TO SELL MALT

All Ordinances Voted Down by the Council—Amendment Offered With Strict Proviso—Meaning of the Word.

The prohibition question like Banquo's ghost will not down and this was plainly shown yesterday morning when the City Council held a special meeting for the purpose of considering the granting of license for the sale of malt but after discussing the matter for more than an hour and considering various amendments the ordinances and amendments in connection with the sale of malt were voted down and there is now no license prescribed other than the one by the State and county, thus allowing malt, which word is defined by the attorney general of the State as meaning grain that has gone through a certain process, to be sold without the payment of tax as far as the city is concerned. Every few minutes during the course of the discussion some things was brought in relative to enforcement of the prohibition law and the probable disregard of the law if any excuse was given. License to sell near-beer expires tomorrow night, that being the time when the State near-beer law becomes effective.

Although called especially for the purpose of considering the malt license, the Council considered several other matters of considerable importance, these being mentioned in another column.

Tuesday City Attorney Herbert McClammy had been instructed to draw up an ordinance covering the sale of malt and this ordinance was turned over to the Council. This ordinance was as follows, its adoption being moved by Councilman P. Q. Moore:

Be it ordained by the Council of the city of Wilmington, N. C. Section 1. That every person, firm or corporation engaged in or conducting the business of manufacturing, buying or selling malt, shall pay an annual tax of $100 dollars in advance. Nothing herein shall be construed as licensing the sale of malt liquors of any nature, kind or description whatsoever, that shall contain alcohol, cocaine, morphine or other opium derivative.

Section 2. The annual tax herein referred to shall be for the period covered by the year commencing the 1st day of June, 1911, and ending May 31st, 1912.

Before a second was received, Councilman B. C. Moore offered the following amendment, suggesting that it be tacked to th eordinance as drawn by the City Attorney:

That on or after the first day of July, 1911; no license shall be issued by the city of Wilmington to any person, firm or corporation, authorizing such person, firm or corporation to run a cold drink stand, restaurant, or to do any other business upon which the city requires a privilege or license tax, except that of a legalized medical depository or a licensed registered pharmacist, unless the party to whom such license is to be issued shall subscribe and file with the city clerk an oath that there is not existing in his name a United States Retail Liquor Dealer's license, or United States Malt Liquor Dealer's license, and that he is not interested directly, or indirectly, in any business, the owner of which holds such license; if any license has already been issued to such party holding a United States Retail Liquor Dealer's license, or a United States Malt Liuor Dealer's license, according to the records of the Internal Revenue office at Raleigh, N. C., the said city license shall be forthwith cancelled, and the pro rata part of the tax for the unexpired term of said license be refunded by the city. Any person carrying on the business of running a cold drink stand, a restaurant, or doing any other business for which the city requires a license tax, except a licensed medical depository or a licensed and registered pharmacist, without having obtained such license, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined fifty dollars, or imprisoned for thirty days, for each day such offense is continued.

The amendment precipitated a general discussion, Councilman P. Q. Moore being of the opinion that the city had enough law already without encumbering the ordinance and thought the ordinance as prepared by city attorney should be adopted; that it was an absolute compliance with the State law, so he was informed by the city attorney. Councilman Tiencken also thought the ordinance as originally drawn should be adopted and pointed out certain defects in the proposed amendment.

Mayor Smith was of the opinion that the amendment was too sweeping; that no person could get a license to conduct any business in the city of Wilmington without first taking an oath that he had no United States malt or liquor dealer's license.

Councilman B. C. Moore thought just such an ordinance was needed as it would put the burden on the other fellow to show he had no United States license; that the mere holding of a license was prima facie evidence of violating the prohibition law.

Woodus Kellum, Esq., was present and was asked if he desired to address the Council relative to the proposed ordinance. He made a short talk in which he stated that the ordinance as prepared by City Attorney McClammy was absolutely what the State revenue act authorized; that in order to sell malt the dealer had to have a United States liquor dealer's license.

Councilman B. C. Moore wanted to know whether Mr. Kellum was appearing before the Council as a private citizen or as an attorney. Mr. Kellum replied that he was present as an attorney and represented three men. Councilman Moore then desired to know who Mr. Kellum represented Mr. Kellum replying that he would give Councilman Moore the information privately but did not think the names should be given in public. He stated furthermore that his clients were honorable and upright men and had never been indicted for violating the law; that they would do every thing they could to see that whiskey was not sold. Mr. Kellum was of the opinion that a means should be afforded to allow the sale of a lighter drink than whiskey.

Seeing that the Mayor was opposed to the amendment as originally offered, Councilman B. C. Moore then offered the following amendments to the ordinance as prepared by City Attorney McClammy:

Section 3. That no license shall be issued to any person, firm or corporation to deal in malt as prescribed in Section One of this ordinance, who shall have in his possession a United States retail liquor dealer's license or a United States retail malt liquor dealer's license.

Section 4. The police department shall have power and authority to enter upon the premises of any person, firm or corporation doing business under a license from the city for the purpose of ascertaining if any such business is being conducted in violation of the laws of the State of North Carolina or the ordinances of the city of Wilmington.

Up to this time the amount to be charged had not been decided upon but after some discussion $100 was inserted in the original ordinance and $6 in the amended one offered by Councilman B. C. Moore, who argued that malt was nothing more than a grain and he could see no reason whatever for a higher license than placed upon other business of a similar nature.

At this stage of the proceeding Councilman B. C. Moore made a motion that the ordinance as amended by him be adopted, this being seconded by Councilman Perdew. It developed that the original motion made by Councilman P. Q. Moore had received no second, making the changed ordinance the one really offered. Councilman P. Q. Moore moved to amend this by striking out the sections offered by Councilman B. C. Moore, this being seconded by Councilman Tiencken. The amendment was first voted on and Councilmen P. Q. Moore and Tiencken voted for the ordinance without the last two sections and Councilmen B. C. Moore and Perdew against adoption, the Mayor breaking the tie by voting "no." The ordinance in its entirety was then voted on and the vote was reversed the mayor again breaking the tie and voting "no," thus killing both ordinances and requiring no tax whatever for the sale of malt.

PILOT E. H. ADKINS FINED.

Went Beyond the Regular Cruising Grounds—Commissioners Met.

There was a special called meeting of the Board of Commissioners of Navigation and Pilotage today, held for the purpose of investigating the complaint that one of the pilot boats has been cruising outside of the regular cruising grounds prescribed by the commissioners.

Vice Chairman J. W. Harper presided, and there were present also Commissioners H. G. Smallbones, Richard Dosher and William St. George, and Clerk L. Brown McKoy.

Several pilots were examined as witnesses and the case was investigated fully. The board then went into executive session, and it was decided that Pilot E. H. Adkins was guilty of a breach of Rule No. 11 of the Port and Harbor Regulations, in that he had absented himself from his station for more than 48 hours without permission. It was accordingly ordered that he be fined $50, as provided in the regulations.

It was further ordered that hereafter if any pilot boat is found guilty of cruising beyond the regular prescribed cruising ground, the branch of each pilot on board the offending boat shall be revoked for a term of not less than thirty days, and the license and number of the boat shall be withdrawn for a like term.

The clerk was requested to instruct Pilot J. F. Arnold to show cause why he should not be fined, in accordance with Rule No. 11 above referred to, for his failure to report to the Board his return from leave of absence.

L. BROWN McKOY,
Clerk.

THE THIRD MISTRIAL.

Jury Again Fails to Agree in Jones Case—Other Cases.

For the third time the case against Thomas Mask Jones, colored, charged with retailing, resulted in a mistrial in the recorder's court yesterday morning. After being out all night the jury filed into court and announced that it was impossible for them to agree. The State put up a hard fight to convict this time and exercised the greatest care in their endeavors to secure an impartial jury. The case will be tried again July 6th.

Irving Chapman, a young white man charged with the larceny of a watch from J. W. Grimstead, was found guilty and got six months.

Henry Block, the negro who held up another of his color several nights ago and relieved him of $2.75, faced a charge of highway robbery and was bound over to the Superior Court, under $500 bond, the Recorder's court not having jurisdiction.

Dors Davis, colored, charged with assault with deadly weapon upon William Anderson, at Carolina Beach several days ago, and also charged with carrying a concealed weapon, was taxed $25 and costs, or six months on the county roads in each case.

Julius Wilson was tried upon a charge of assault with a deadly weapon upon Charley Spicer at Carolina Beach recently. Wilson tried to cut Spicer's throat and almost succeeded. He was given a sentence of six months and took an appeal to Superior court. In default of $200 bond he went to jail.

Beach Property Booming.

Mr. Chas. E. Hooper, the genial manager of the Oceanic Hotel, and Mr. J. H. VanNess, a prominent business man of Charlotte, have purchased lots on Wrightsville Beach, and it is presumed that they will build cottages on these properties. Now that the Tidewater Power Company has extended its car line through the property, giving the owners facilities for building, it is expected that the north end of the beach will soon be dotted with attractive homes. Among those who have recently bought lots in this delightful suburb are Messrs. William Peck, Champ McD. Davis and Thos. H. Wright, all prominent young business men of the city.

HARDWARE MEN'S CONVENTION

Wilmington Dealers Will be Represented at Annual Meeting at Asheville Next Month—Interesting Programme.

Wilmington hardware dealers will probably be well represented at the seventh annual convention of the Hardware Association of the Carolinas, to be held at the Battery Park Hotel, in Asheville, July 11-14. Mr. Wm. E. Springer will probably represent Wm. E. Springer & Co., Messrs. John R. Murchison and Ed Schulken the firm of J. W. Murchison & Co. and N. Jacobi Company will also send delegates. These progressive firms are always represented at the convention.

Secretary T. W. Dixon, of Charlotte, has recently made an extended trip over the Carolinas in the interest of the association, and he has reported that the prospects for a most successful convention this year are all that could be desired. Many new firms have become members of the association since the last convention and now nearly two-thirds of the retail hardware men of the two States belong to the organization. The association now numbers 375 members.

President William H. Smith has recently issued his call for the convention and Secretary Dixon has been busy with the work of compiling the handsome year book of the association, which is now completed. In this book is contained the programme for this year's meeting, and it promises to be one of the most attractive in the history of the association. Three days of the time will be spent in Asheville and the fourth at Lake Toxaway, the members making the trip in a chartered train. The meeting in Asheville will be held in the assembly room of the Battery Park Hotel and there will be special rates for the members. There are also special rates over the different railroads, all of which information is contained in the year book.

An elaborate entertainment programme has been arranged and the members are expecting a most enjoyable time.

Some distinguished men in the hardware field appear on the programme, including Sharon E. Jones, of Richmond, Ind., the president of the National Hardware Association, and Mr. R. R. Williams, one of the editors of The Iron Age, and Mr. Harry Wise, editor of The Tradesman, and Mr. Sam D. Jones, of Atlanta, whose subject will be "Personality in Business." There are many other speakers from the North and South on the programme.

An interesting feature of the outing Friday at Toxaway will be a contest of fire-arms, for which occasion handsome prizes have been offered by the Winchester Arms Company, and two prizes by the Remington rifle and a Savage automatic revolver, offered by the association. This event will take place at the grounds at Toxaway where the association will enjoy a picnic on Friday, and with other features provided gives promise of affording a keen degree of pleasure to all who participate.

PROMISING NEW INDUSTRY

National Wood Distilling Company Will Have Plant in Operation in Sixty Days—To Establish Subsidiary Plants.

The machinery for the plant of the National Wood Distilling Co., recently organized in this city, will be installed at once and the plant will begin operations in the next 60 days.

This is what was decided upon yesterday afternoon at the first meeting of the directors of the new concern. The meeting of the directors was held at the general offices of the company, room No. 22, Garrell building. Mr. H. M. Chase, the president, was in the chair, and Mr. James Kyle, secretary and treasurer, recorded the minutes.

The directors opened bids for supplying the machinery for the plant, and the contracts will be awarded at once, with the understanding that the plant shall be equipped and ready for operation in 60 days. The board elected John R. Murchison as assistant secretary and treasurer and transacted considerable business of a private nature.

The National Wood Distilling Company starts out under the most flattering auspices, and it promises to be an industry of great significance to all portions of the South where the yellow or long leaf pine grows. The company owns the patents for manufacturing various products by the distillation of pine wood in accordance with the process discovered and invented by Mr. Thomas W. Pritchard, of Wilmington. The principal products will be high grade spirits turpentine, tar oil, charcoal and other by-products of the method of distillation. The chief product of the Pritchard process is spirits turpentine, and the principal virtue of the method is that it produces spirits of a purity and value never before reached. The product has been pronounced by eminent chemical and technical experts to be far superior to the product of crude turpentine distilled by the ordinary process in vogue throughout the turpentine producing regions of the South Atlantic and Gulf States.

The Pritchard process is designed to revive the merchantable product by distilling pine wood instead of the gum scrapings from the trees. The method is said to be more economical and decidedly more efficacious than the old method, while the material to be utilized is the rich stumpage and waste wood of the cut-over long leaf pine forests. It will utilize what is otherwise an entire waste material, and will bring good values out of what could not otherwise be turned into profit. It is said that the supply of wood for distillation is in great abundance and that it will add another source of wealth to the turpentine regions.

The National Wood Distilling Company will establish the parent plant in Wilmington and will have subsidiary plants throughout North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. Already many applications have been received for the use of the process.

The Company was recently chartered with an authorized capital stock of $110,000, of which there has been paid in sufficient funds to install the initial plant in this city. Many of Wilmington's most successful business men are interested, the board of directors including Messrs. James Sprunt, J. A. Taylor, D. C. Love, J. W. Yates, H. M. Chase, T. W. Pritchard, P. P. Cansey and James Kyle.

The officers of the company are as follows: President, H. M. Chase; vice president, T. W. Pritchard; secretary and treasurer, James Kyle; assistant secretary and treasurer, John R. Murchison.

The company expects to employ quite a number of operatives when the enterprise is developed on the scale designed for it. It will furnish a ready market for all the lightwood that can be brought to Wilmington from along the rivers and railroads in this region.

IMMUNITY AGAINST TYPHOID.

Wonderful Result of Inoculation Is Shown by Report from Army.

The following editorial, with reference to vaccination against typhoid, which will be read with much interest, appeared in the Charleston News and Courier yesterday:

"A dispatch from Utica, New York, to the New York Sun, conveyes the information that Adjutant-General Verbeck has determined to provide for the vaccination against typhoid fever of all National Guardsmen of New York during their encampment at Pine Plains this Summer. The officers and elisted men will not be required to submit to this inoculation, but all of them will be urged to do so.

"They should be glad to embrace the opportunity. The last report of the Surgeon General of the United States Army, giving figures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909, makes the statement that up to October 1, 1910, but 5 cases of typhoid fever had devolped among the soldiers who had submitted to inoculation, as against 418 cases among the non-immunized, and that these 5 cases were of so mild a type as to render the diagnosis doubtful.

"Commenting upon these figures, the Journal of the American Medical Association notes that since the practice of vaccination against typhoid was introduced into our army, in March, 1909, over 17,000 officers and enlisted men had voluntarily availed themselves of the opportunity to become immunized before the troops were ordeerd to the Mexican border. The results obtained from the general inoculation of officers and men taking part in that movement have been surprisingly satisfactory.

"'With the memory of Camp Chickamauga still fresh in our minds,' remarks the Jorunal, 'we are better able to appreciate the great strides which have been made in preventive medicine since the days of the Spanish war. During that campaign there were 20,738 cases of typhoid, with 1,580 deaths, and all within three and a half months. One man in every six had the disease and this was increased to one in every five among those regiments which were left in the United States. Now, among the 18,000 men who have been mobilized on the Southwest border for over two months, living under the usual camp conditions where rain and mud prevail, the only case of typhoid fever which has developed has been that of a single teamster who was unprotected by vaccination.'

"The Journal suggests that 'It would seem as though the next logical move would be to place the anti-typhoid vaccine at the disposal of the civilian practioner, as has been done already with the vaccine for the treatment of rabies.' The sooner the better. There are, we take, it thousands of people who would like to be insured in so simple and easy and effective a manner against a disease which every one dreads. Charleston has suffered comparatively little from typhoid fever during the last five or six years, but there are hundreds of people who leave Charleston at this season of the year for vacation trips, in the course of which they are apt to be exposed to infection. If this danger can be eliminated why should not every citizen who desires it be afforded immunity?"

LARGE REAL ESTATE DEAL.

A. O. Schuster Purchases J. W. Fleet & Company Corner.

One of the largest real estate deals that has been consummated in Wilmington for quite a while was closed yesterday when Mr. A. O. Schuster, the well-known jeweler, purchased the store on the southwest corner of Front and Princess streets, now occupied by J. W. Fleet & Company, and also the lot just in the rear of the store and which runs back to the Masonic Temple, the consideration being between $40,000 and $50,000. The store has a frontage of .7 1-2 feet on Front street and 106 1-2 on Princess. The lot carries with it the vacant lot just in the rear of the store and which runs from Princess street back to the Masonic Temple. This lot is 19 1-2 feet in width. The property belonged to the McRary estate and was sold through the Wright Real Estate Agency.

It is understood that the firm of J. W. Fleet & Company has the store for about a year longer. Mr. Schuster stated yesterday evening that he had not decided positively what improvements he will make to the property but that improvements will be made when the present lease expires.

Mr. Schuster is a great believer in Wilmington real estate and especially Front street business property. Only a few months ago he purchased what was known as the Delmonico Cafe property and also the store occupied by Mr. Currin, the well-known merchant tailor. This lot is 66 feet wide and about 120 feet long. As has been previously stated, he expects to place a modern building on the property this Fall, work to commence about October. He has not decided whether it will be a six-story or eight-story building.

The opinion prevails among real estate men that there will be a great advance in Front street property just as soon as a new pavement is put down and the street improvement work generally gets under way.

PARIS GREEN PROVES FATAL.

Jonathan Stubbs Died at Hospital Last Night—Took Poison.

In a fit of deep despondency caused by failing health, Jonathan Stubbs, aged 67, night watchman at the Camp Lumber Company, yesterday morning at the store of his son-in-law, Mr. R. McDougal at Front and Wright streets, took a box of Paris green, containing about a tea cup full, the same being mixed with a little whiskey and ginger ale. The act of Stubbs was discovered a few minutes after the deadly poison was swallowed and he was sent to the James Walker Memorial Hospita and everything possible done to save his life and at first it was thought he would recover, but early last night he began to sink and at 9 o'clock passed away. He took the poison yesterday morning about 9 o'clock.

The cause of the desperate act is said to have been increasing age and feebleness and despondency over the fact that he had recently been suffering from the enlargement of the bone in one heel and was informed by physicians that he was too old to have it removed. He apparently feared he might soon become too feeble to retain his job.

Before he left home yesterday morning Mr. Stubbs gave his wife what money he had and told her she would probably need it before he made any more. He then went to the store of his son-in-law and there it was that he took the deadly dose.

MANY VISITORS ON BEACH.

Pullman of Nine Cars from Atlanta—Large Crowds from Charlotte.

Hundreds of excursionists from Atlanta and Charlotte are at Wrightsville Beach enjoying the delightful breezes, having arrived yesterday. A special Pullman train consisting of nine cars reached here from Atlanta about 11 o'clock in the morning and brought nearly 300 visitors. Later in the day the Pritchard Memorial Cauren Sunday School excursion came in from Charlotte with something over 400 on board. Special cars were at the union depot to meet the trains and the excursionists went direct to the beach.

The Tidewater Power Company announces that a special dance will be given tonight complimentary to the visitors. The magnificent dance hall will be specially decorated for the occasion. Today quite a number of the visitors will take the trip down the Cape Fear river with the ever-genial Captain John W. Harper of the steamer "Wilmington."

Utica, N. Y., June 28.—Guy H. Clark, cashier of the Earlville National Bank, left his home in that village last Thursday to go to Saranac Lake, he said, to see an invalid daughter. Yesterday a letter was received at the bank written from Utica by Clark, stating that he was sort in his accounts about $43,000. In the letter Clark turned over his stock and real estate to the bank as restitution for the sum he was short.

WAS COMMITTED TO JAIL

The inquest over the body of Mrs. Dora Sandlin, who was killed Tuesday night by her husband, L. M. Sandlin, was held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the court house, the verdict of the jury being that Mrs. Sandlin came to her death as the result of a pistol shot wound inflicted by her husband, L. M. Sandlin.

The witnesses examined were Messrs. J. S. Shepard, J. E. Armstrong, Mrs. May Tyndall, Mrs. C. Fergus, Miss Merritt and Dr. C. D. Bell. The evidence adduced was practically the same as the data published in The Morning Star yesterday. Mr. Shepard was an eye witness to the entire tragedy and in fact with the exception of the two little girls of Sandlin was the only person who did witness just what occurred. It was developed that Sandlin had made statements that he was going to kill his wife and had purchased a pistol with this avowed purpose.

When Sandlin was first carried to the hospital it was stated that he would have to stay there at least ten days but he appeared so strong today and to be suffering so little from the operation he had to undergo for the removal of the bullet from his skull that it was thought best to place him in jail. It was a strange coincidence that in the same automobile Sheriff Cowan brought to the city jail William Stepney, the negro who shot his wife on South Twelfth street on May 30th and then turned the pistol upon himself and sent a bullet into his side. Stepney was much weaker than Sandlin and had to be helped from the automobile to the jail but Sandlin was able to walk without assistance. Both men will have to face the charge of murder and under circumstances of the same nature.

The funeral over the remains of Mrs. Sandlin was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from 813 Ann street, and the remains were carried to Verona, the former home of Mrs. Sandlin, where they were laid to rest in the family burying ground. The children and several friends of the late Mrs. Sandlin accompanied the remains.

It is said that Sandlin shows no remorse for the commission of the horrible crime.

The happy couple then went to the home of the groom's parents, No. 1 Queen street, where a reception was given in their honor. A number of handsome presents were received by the happy young pair.

Mr. Williams is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Williams and is well and favorably known in the city. MAY MOVE THE CHAMBER.

Matter Will be Discussed at Called Meeting Friday Afternoon.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce called for Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the advisability of moving the Chamber when the lease expires on the present quarters, August 1st, will be considered. The present location is considered undesirable for a number of reasons, chief among which is insufficient room to properly transact the affairs of the Chamber.

President Corbett called the meeting for Friday at the request of the Executive Committee and urges a full attendance of members. It is understood that there are several places that could be made suitable quarters for the Chamber, under consideration at present.

At the Bijou Today.

Oh, joy! A great baseball film is on today's bill at the fascinating Bijou. If there is anything that appeals with extra force to the mind and with peculiar emphasis to American human nature during the Summer months it is something that savors richly of the great game of baseball. What is proclaimed the greatest film of this character in years will be presented at the Bijou today. It is only semi-dramatic. In fact, for the greater part it is pure comedy and while dealing in interesting manner with the great sport, dishes out wholesome laughs by the yard. It is called "The Baseball Star From Bingville," and the leading character is a heavy swatter who is drafted by one of the big leagues from the village team. The only thing against him becoming instantly a "Ty" Cobb is his fatness, and the method he pursues, aided by an absent minded doctor and a steam bath, is indeed novel and will boil out laughs from the most dried-up physiognomy. One of the most picturesque and one of the most intensely dramatic films ever presented is also included in today's delicious Bijou menu. It is "Old Indian Days," and it breathes of the romance and sweetness of the forest, when the Red Man roved at will and when the hand of the white man was not raised against him. It is most unique in that it deals exclusively with the Indian. It is also instructive as it depicts some of the ancient customs of the red skins, and which they closely adhere to without fear or favor. The other films on today's bill are of the very best and latest type, while the musical part of the programme is ging to be simply superb. Mr. Frank Banks, the favorite singer, has a glittering new offering in the way of Broadway's latest and greatest hit. Although yesterday was a warm one, the Bijou was just as cool as a cucumber and those who crowded the attractive theatre found delightful comfort as well as a big and splendid show.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

Fatal Accident on Lumber Road in Brunswick County.

Four men were killed and another seriously injured in a railroad accident which occurred yesterday morning at Makatoka, on one of the tram roads of the Waccamaw Lumber Company, about 18 miles from Bolton. Information to this effect was received in the city yesterday by telephone. Three of the men who were killed were Italians and one was a Russian. The injured man is a Russian also. Coffins were sent to the place from a local undertaking establishment.

From the scant information received here yesterday the accident must have been in the nature of a derailmnet of one of the lumber trains. The place is so located that communication is practically impossible, but it is hardly thought that the accident could have occurred from a collision. The accident occurred at an early hour in morning when the men were starting to their work.

The four men killed were Joseph Ross, Dominico Serenci, Gaetano Nalti and Forester Rhuhady. Their bodies were brought to the city last night on the midnight train and the funeral will be held from St. Thomas Catholic church this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

FRECKLES GONE

"The best skin specialist told me that nothing would remove my freckles and that I would carry them to my grave," said a well known society woman, "but I fooled them all with a new drug, othine—double strength, that I bought at J. Hicks Bunting's, which cleared my skin and gave me a fine complexion."

The action of othine is really remarkable, for when applied at night, many of the freckles disappear entirely by morning, and the rest have begun to fade. An ounce is usually all that is needed, even for the worst case.

Be sure to ask J. Hicks Bunting Co., for the double strength othine, as this is sold under a guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

DECLINE IN COTTON MARKET

Sold Off Sharply Owing to Prospects of More Favorable Weather in Western Belt—Five to Thirteen Points Lower.

New York, June 28.—There was a renewal of yesterday's covering movement at the opening of the cotton market this morning, but prices soon weakened, owing to prospects of more favorable weather in the Western belt, and the market sold off rather sharply, closing steady but at a decline of 5 to 13 points.

The opening was steady, at unchanged prices to an advance of two point and during the early trading active positions sold about four to eight points net higher on the steady cables, dry weather complaints from the Western belt, talk of a continued demand for spot supplies out of the local stock, covering, and support from prominent bull brokers. This advance carried October contracts up to 13.31, or about 32 points above the recent low record and offerings soon became heavier.

Leading bulls continued buyers but the Western belt forecast for unsettled or showery weather inspired rather general selling and during the early afternoon the market eased off to a net loss of about 96@10 points on the new crop. July broke very sharply under a comparatively few selling orders, easing off to 11.48 or 20 points net lower and 26 points below the high price of the morning. Later purchases of 3 or 4 hundred rallied July to 14.55, and later positions steadied up a point or two from the lowest during the last hour on covering, although there was no change in the general character of the news.

Aside from sections in the Western belt, Southern crop advices are generally very favorable and wires received here from Memphis during the day state that the average of 40 guesses by members of the exchange there pointed to an official condition report next Monday of about 89 per cent. The cables reported rather a smaller advance in Liverpool thandue in anything but private advices said that Manchester was calling cotton freely and importers were buying.

Receipts today, 2,537 bales, against 1,094 last week and 2,363 last year. For the week, 8,000 bales, against 7,056 last week and 25,343 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 1,718 bales, against 784 last year, and at Houston, 128 bales, against 131 last year.

Spot closed quiet and ten points lower; middling uplands, 14.80; middling gulf, 15.05; no sales.

IRREGULAR IN STOCK MARKET

Public Participation Has Fallen Low Point—Effort to Depress Price of U. S. Steel—Market Decidedly Weaker.

New York, June 28.—Transactions in stocks were marked today with the same degree of irregularity which has prevailed most of the time for the last fortnight.

Public participation in the market has fallen to a low point, leaving the bulk of trading to the professional operators. There was noticeable the continued effort to depress prices particularly United States Steel.

After a series of fluctuations, the market became decidedly weaker and closed with losses of a point or more for many of the active stocks. Wabash stocks and bonds gave way sharply, following announcement that the interest payment on one issue of the bonds had been reduced. This action and the report that interest payments on the bonds of a western road might be suspended were instrumental in depressing prices. The disappointing reports for May of the Harriman roads, checked the recent advance in those stocks, which were unusually heavy. United States Steel, which made a smart advance in London and opened here strong, speedily declined on heavy offerings, emanating from a prominent commission house. The selling of this stock was checked during the morning but it shared fully in the weakness which overtood the market later, in spite of the reports of a continued improvement in the Steel business, which were contained in the weekly trade reviews. Erie declined a point after it was announced that the company had sold $6,000,000 equipment trust certificates. July disbursements of interest and dividends on railroad, industrial and corporation securities, banks and trst companies, the national government and New York city are estimated at 233,739,000, an increase of $20,867,000 over last July. In addition to these payments, it is estimated that about $12,000,000 is still due the Federal government in corporation taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30. In spite of these unusually heavy demands upon the money market, however, it is regarded as likely that there will be an appreciable hardening in rates on account of the extraordinary ease of money which has prevailed for months.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,000,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales of stocks today, 875,200 shares.

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run-down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hayfever or any throat or lung trouble it is supreme. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by R. R. TEDDY IS BROUGHT INTO THE AFFAIR

Assistant Attorney General Purdy, explained the case to him and thought that the government was going to lose the case.

"Purdy told me," said Mr. Earle, that he wanted all the details. I gave them to him. After he heard them he jumped up and said: 'We'll send them all to jail.' He said they wanted to get the best man in the United States as special counsel in the case and asked me how James M. Beck, former Assistant Attorney General would do. I said I thought he would be all right."

"That was before Mr. Beck became counsel for the American Sugar Refining Company, was it not?" asked Chairman Hardwick.

"Yes."

"You know after a man makes a success as a trust-buster, he doesn't continue to serve the people long."

The witness criticised former Attorney General Bonaparte and said that when he assumed office he despaired of government action and began a civil suit in the Federal Court of the Southern District of New York.

"Mr. Bonaparte never submitted anything except briefs favorable to the American Sugar Refining Company and they were very bad briefs at that," Mr. Earle declared..

Mr. Earle related the history of the case of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company, organized by Philadelphia capitalists, and how Adolph Segal borrowed money on his stock from Gustav Kissell, who turned out to be an agent for the American Sugar Refining Company. He will resume his testimony tomorrow.

Judge Townsend, of Union, S. C., Dead.—Mr. Thompson Better.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 28.—Mrs. C. B. Townsend received a telegram this forenoon announcing the death of her only brother, ex-Judge D. A. Townsend, who passed away early this morning at his home in Union, S. C. He had been in poor health for some time and his death came as no surprise. He had passed his 70th year and was one of the best known and most highly honored citizens in his section of the State. Judge Townsend had served his State for 12 years as judge, which office he filled with honor to himself and his constituents.

Mr. C. B. Townsend will leave on the early train tomorrow morning for Union to attend the funeral, which will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. On account of sickness Mrs. Townsend will not be able to attend.

Mr. Archie Morrison, who has been confined to his room for several days with a severe attack of rheumatism, left this morning for Richmond where he will enter a hospital for treatment. He was accompanied by Mr. Geo. G. French.

Mr. George B. McLeod left this morning for Jackson Springs where he will spend some time. His family left today for Waynesville where they will remain for a while.

Mr. J. B. Brite, who has taught school at several places in this county six or eaght years ago, was a Lumberton visitor today.

Prospects are good for a large crowd from here to Wilmington tomorrow.

What is claimed to have been an accidental shooting about eight miles north of here last night about 11 o'clock in which Harry Ivey, a young white man, shot a young Croatan named Hardin, the ball taking effect in the hip. Hardin was brought to the hospital and the ball extracted about noon. Dr. Thompson stated tonight that the wounded man would be out in a few days.

Your correspondent is authorized by Dr. Thompson tonight to state that Mr. Joseph E. Thompson, managing editor of The Morning Star, who was taken sick Sunday while visiting relatives, was better and he thinks the attack will only be light.

Crop Outlook Good—Forest Fire Does Much Damage.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rosindale, N. C., June 26.—The crop outlook here is very promising now, since the recent showers. Corn is unusually good on most of the farms. Cotton is late, but doing real well. There will likely be, with favorable showers from now on, two-thirds of a normal crop. Lots of cow peas are being planted as a hay crop, and when the high price of hay is considered the farmers feel that they are taking a forward step in raising their own.

A most destructive forest fire destroyed several hundred acres of timber about two and a half miles north of here several days ago. The heaviest losers were Messrs. L. M. Perry, D. T. Perry and G. P. Clark. The latter lost practically all the timber he owned, being directly in the main path of the fire. It is thought that the blaze was started by lightning.

Miss Olive Clark leaves tomorrow for Raleigh, where she has accepted a position.—Mr. D. T. Perry, of Fayetteville, was in this section the past week, on business.—Mr. E. S. Clark, who holds a position with the Council Tool Company, of Wananish, spent Sunday with his mother.—Mr. Paul Savage, of Bladen Springs, was a pleasant caller in this community Sunday.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 28.—That the mysterious and freakish thyroid gland, in combination of the effects of various diets, may exert a direction influence for large or small families was one of the interesting inferences drawn from a scientific narrative of experiments conducted with mice, placed today before the American Medical Association by Dr. Reid Hunt, of Washington, D. C.

FALLEN BANKER CONVICTED.

J. B. Reichmann, of Carnegie Trust Company Is Guilty.

New York, June 28.—Joseph B. Reichmann, formerly president of the Carnegie Trust Company, was found guilty today of making false statements to the State Banking Department. The jury deliberated an hour and a half.

Reichmann's case was regarded as of fundamental importance to the tangled situation resulting from the suspension of the Carnegie Trust Company, and the resulting prosecution. One of the issues of the trial was the entry of a loan of $130,000 obtained from the Northern Bank for the trust company by Joseph G. Robin.

The statement to the Banking Department in question referred to the condition of the Carnegie Trust Company, on August 31st last. Reichmann was found guilty under the section of the penal code which provides that any one who concurs in the making of a false report to the State Banking Department is guilty of misdemeanor.

Unless the court grants the motion for an arrest of judgment, Reichmann will be sentenced next Friday.

The State Banking Department carries a possible penalty of $500 fine or one year's imprisonment or both.

When the verdict was announced Reichmann, who had entered court this morning jubilant and confident of acquittal, reeled and would have fallen if a court officer had not supported him.

THRONGS GREET AIRMEN.

Vedrine, First to Arrive at Roubaix, Awarded Most of $3,000 Prize.

Roubaix France, June 28.—Great crowds attending the Roubaix exposition were massed in the aerodrome on the exposition grounds today to welcome the competitors in the international circuit aviation race.

Vedrine was the first to arrive, reaching here at 10.10 o'clock and winning the lion's share of the $3,000 prize given for the leaders in the day's flight.

Today's stage was from Brussels here. The airmen were sent away from the start at minute intervals from 10 o'clock. Beaumont took the air first and was followed by Garros. Vidart, Vedrine, Renaux, Gibert Kimmerling Duval Prevot and Wyenmaelen in the order named.

Close behind Vedrine at the finish was Garros who arrived at 11:17 o'clock. He was followed in the order named by Kimmerling, Beaumont, Dix Gibert and Valentine.

FIRE ON A BATTLESHIP.

Occurred in After Turret of Ohio at Brooklyn Yard.

New York, June 28.—Fire in the after turret of the battleship Ohio, at the navy yard in Brooklyn late tonight, necessitated the flooding of the powder magazine as a precaution against an explosion. The fire smouldered for half an hour along the heavy rubber insulation of electric wires and a quantity of cotton waste.

The blaze is believed to have originated by the dropping of a hot rivet on the insulation of the wires which operate the electric ammunition hoist, when workmen were installing a so-called bulkhead or steel partition between the two big guns of the turret.

The powder magazine is said to have been situated seven feet below turret, and contained about 3,000 pounds of powder in cans and a considerable quantity of other ammunition.

POLITICS AT NORFOLK.

Points to Victory for Fusionism—Probable Outcome.

Norfolk, Ba., June 28.—Indications point to a victory again for fusionism in Norfolk county, in today's Democratic primary election in which the contending forces were the straight out Democrats and the fusionists of which Alvah H. Martin, Republican National Committeeman of Virginia, is the recognized head.

A. C. Cromwell, fusion candidate for the office of sheriff, is undoubtedly renominated, and the nomination of W. F. Wilson, fusion candidate for county clerk seems likely on the face of incomplete returns.

The straight outs will undoubtedly nominate two candidates for county supervisors. Charges of illegal registration and the voting of non-residents are made by the straight-outs and the primary will in all probability be contested.

BOTH SUFFERED RELAPSE.

Senator Luke Lee and Wife in Washington Hospital.

Washington, June 28.—Senator Luke Lea, of Tennessee, who is again in the hospital because of a recurrence of weakness following the sacrifice of a quart of blood to his wife, will be fully recovered after a few days rest in the opinion of the surgeons. His work on the Lorimer committee of inquiry was too much for his weakened condition. Mrs. Lea, whose life is believed to have been saved by the transfusion of blood, suffered a relapse, but tonight she wa sreported at the hospital to be much improved.

35 YEARS IS THE AGE LIMIT.

Erie Railroad Won't Accept Recruits Over That Time.

New York, June 28.—The age limit at which a man may obtain employment in any department of the Erie Railroad is now 35 years. A strict order to that effect has been issued.

A tall, well developed, alert man called yesterday at the freight claim department and asked for a clerical position. He was informed that there were several vacancies, but when he gave his age as 36 he was told that strict orders had been issued not to employ any person older than 35 years.

A Charming Woman

is one who is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But its hard for a woman to be charming without health A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50c. at R. R. TAKES OVER C. C. & O. ROAD.

Leased by Seaboard and C. & O.—Railroad Men Meet.

Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—As a result of a meeting of the railroad men, held recently in Spartanburg, S. C., definite arrangements have been made whereby the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railway will be leased by the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Seaboard Air Line. This means through trains from Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburg and intermediate points of the Middle West via the Chesapeake & Ohio, Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio and the Seaboard Air line, to points in the South through to the Gulf. The Clinchfield road will be extended from St. Paul, Va., 40 miles to Elkhorn City, Ky., where connection will be made with the Chesapeake & Ohio. The Seaboard Air Line already connects with the Clinchfield road at Bostock, N. C. The meeting at Spartanburg was attended by Edwin Hawley, John B. Dennis, George W. Stevens, Frank Turnbull, S. Davies Warfield, Vice-President Caples, and other officials of the roads interested. Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City ——, of New York, also attended the meeting, and with the other gentlemen named made an inspection trip over the Clinchfield railway.

S. Davies Warfield, who was one of the receivers of the Seaboard, and who is now chairman of its executive committee, was largely instrumental in bringing about the new arrangement.

The Clinchfield road occupies a strategic position, as it holds the only gateway through the mountains, giving connection with the Middle West. The Clinchfield road was built by the Cumberland corporation and the total investment in building the road and purchasing coal lands was something over $55,000,000. It is learned that the existing relations of the Clinchfield railroad with other connections will not be disturbed.

LOWELL ANNOUNCES GIFTS.

Those Made to Harvard Amount to $1,200,000—Details.

Cambridge, Mass. June 28.—Gifts to the amount of $1,200,000 received by Harvard University during the last year, were announced by President Lowell to the $2,000 or more Harvard men gather for the alumni meeting in the quadrangle behind Seaver Hall late today.

Almost simultaneously with this announcement, William C Boyden, of Chicago, handed to President Lowell a check for $100,000, as the gift of the Class of 1886 to the University, to be invested in the college funds and only the income to be used.

Other speakers were Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, speaking for the class of '61 and George von L. Meyer, '79, Secretary of the Navy, on whom was conferred the honorary degree of LL. D.

Secretary Meyer heads the list of five new overseers to Harvard, elected to serve for six years.

CONVENE ON MOUNTAIN TOP.

Labor Delegates Choose Pinnacle to Avoid Excessive Heat.

Paris, June 28.—In the present torrid weather the atmosphere of the usual halls of meeting becomes rapidly insupportable, and the delegates on the Labor Confederation at Toulouse, instead of summoning their syndicated henchmen to assemble in town to receive instructions in the art of refined sabetage and of hunting recalcitrant "foxes", arranged a meeting for the top of Mount Puymoreus, at an altitude of 600 feet.

Here the workmen of the Transpyrenean Railway climbed to hear, among the splendid and savage scenery of nature, a sermon from their secretary general on all these professional duties. And it was in this rustic frame, to the accompaniment of tumbling torrents, that they passed a resolution never to yield to their employers until complete satisfaction had been obtained.

RUSSO-CHINESE CONFLICT.

Czar's Minister Fooled the Chinese at Their Banquet.

Shanghai, June 28.—Advices from Peking say that the Chinese cabinet had a good hearty cry over the Russian and British complications. The regent said: "If Chang Cri-tung and Luh Ch'wan-lin had been alive we should not have come to this," and he shed bitter tears. Prince K'ing then wept. The Archduke Tsai-lang, Su Shi-chang, and Natung followed suit. Ten persons urged the regent to re-appoint Yuan Shi-kai. The regent says he is willing, but the Empress-Dowager hates him too much. On the other hand, Yuan firmly declines all offers unless the Dowager herself invites him by public decree.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS.

Barbecue at Columbia Resort Ends the Annual Convention.

Columbia, S. C., June 28.—With a barbecue at Ridgewood this afternoon, the annual convention of the South Carolina Cotton Seed Crushers' Association came to a close.

The officers just elected follow: J. N. Lipscomb, of Gaffney, president; vice president. F. S. Evans, of Greenwood; C. R. Sprott, of Manning, vice president; B. F. Taylor, of Columbia (re-elected), secretary-treasurer. Mr. Lipscomb, the new president, has been vice president.

RETAIL COAL DEALERS MEET.

Thousand Delegates Attend the Convention at Kansas City.

Kansas City, June 28.—One thousand delegates from Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and other sections of the Southwest attended the first annual convention of the Interstate Retail Coal Dealers' Association, which met here today.

The question of securing legislation requiring railroads to weigh shipments of coal at its destination will be considered. The coal dealers assert that much coal is lost by the railroads from each car shipped.

Cleveland, June 28.—Paul S. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Foster, of San Francisco, and Miss Margaret Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Calhoun, of Cleveland, and San Francisco, were married here tonight at the Calhoun home. Ex-Governors Myron T. Herrick, of Ohio, and Edwin Warfield, of Maryland, were among the 400 guests. The bride's great grandfather was John C. Calhoun.

CAROLINA EDITORS ADJOURN.

J. J. Farriss, of High Point, President—Morehead City Next.

Lenoir, N. C., June 28.—After electing J. J. Farriss, High Point Enterprise, president, and James H. Cairo, Asheville Citizen, as vice-president, the North Carolina Press Association adjourned today.

The feature was the address of Congressman John H. Small, who discussed "The Intra-Costal Waterway;" Dr. Louis W. Poteat, president of Wake Forest College, dealt with "The Liberty of the Press;" James R. Young, State insurance commissioner, delivered an interesting address on "The Press as a Factor in Reducing Fire Waste."

The Association went on record as espousing the construction of State highways under convict lease system, and urged a million dollar bond issue therefor. The establisament of a co-operative bureau for the benefit of weekly and semi-weekly newspapers was also advocated. The association probably will meet next year at Morehead City.

MISSOURI'S OUSTER SUIT.

Prominent Lumberman Cross-Examined by the Attorneys.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 28.—Lawyers for the lumber companies which are opposing the State's ouster suit in allegations of being a trust, cross-examined John B. White, of Kansas City, today. White was president of the Southern Lumber Manufacturers' Association which was changed to the Yellow Pine Association, a defendant in the State's suit.

W. K. Smith, of St. Louis, secretary of the Yellow Pine Manufacturers' Association, appeared at the hearing under orders of Special Commissioner Robert M. Reynolds, with his records and correspondence, by which Assistant Attorney General Atkinson expects to prove the lumber output was curtailed by a meeting of the manufacturers in 1905.

CORN BELT DROUGHT BROKEN.

Showers Are General and Fears Are Relieved to Some Degree.

Topeka, June 28.—The drought and heat which have caused much apprehension in Kansas and a large part of the Southwest, for three weeks, was broken at an early hour today by showers which were general throughout the corn belt.

There was one seven-hundredth of an inch in Topeka, but the Union Pacific reports three-quarters inch at Hayes City, and rains are reported from a dozen other places throughout Eastern Kansas.

The hot winds and blistering heat have threatened the corn crop, but up to this time it has suffered little damage.

Washington, June 28.—Five negroes, a father and mother and their three children, were found dead in their home here tonight, victims of illuminating gas. They evidently had been dead for the past 24 hours. A leaking gas pipe is thought to have caused the fatalities.
